

POSTAL MEN ARE GRANTED MORE MONEY

Postoffice Appropriation Bill Is Finally Passed by the House

STRICKEN INCREASES RESTORED BY THE HOUSE

Bill As Finally Passed, Provides Increase in Pay for 90 Per Cent of Men Concerned in Handling Mails.

Washington, D.C., February 20.—The postoffice appropriation bill, the largest ever reported from the committee on postoffices and post roads, passed the house today. All the provisions relating to increased pay, affecting 90 per cent of the postal employees, which yesterday were stricken out on points of order, were today restored to the bill. This action was accomplished by a vote presented by the committee on rules after the bill had been reported to the house by the committee of the whole.

Mr. Clayton, of Alabama, presented an amendment providing that fourth-class postoffices should not be discontinued unless fifteen days notice had been given to the representative or delegate in congress from the district in which such postoffice is located. The amendment was ruled out on a point of order.

Macon Shoots in His Poles. When the item appropriating $17,439,000 for the pay of employees of the railway mails was reached Mr. Macon, of Arkansas, made the point of order against the paragraph that it increased salaries.

Mr. Fitzgerald, of Indiana, in charge of the bill, earnestly protested against the point for the reason that if the appropriation be stricken out it would do away with the railway mail service and cripple the entire postal system.

Mr. Macon said that it was mighty strange how some persons could make points of order, even to the extent of protecting the railroads; he made a point of order clearly within his right and for the purpose of protecting the public treasury he was criticized and even condemned. He protested against such actions. The point was sustained.

Fitzgerald Retaliates. Mr. Fitzgerald, of Indiana, in conformity with his pledge of yesterday, growing out of his controversy with Mr. Macon, of Arkansas, made a point of order against the paragraph increasing the pay of rural free delivery carriers and the chair sustained the point.

Mr. Murphy, of Missouri, made a point of order against the provision for an investigation of the postoffice department by a committee of senators and members, but withdrew in response to the urgent solicitations of Fitzgerald, of Indiana, and Moon, of Tennessee, but he had no sooner withdrawn it than it was renewed by Mr. Macon. Mr. Macon made a speech explaining his position and then withdrew his point of order, saying that he did so out of deference to the great unanimity with which the legislation is demanded. Appearances favoring the bill were read and adopted.

The committee of the whole then rose and Mr. Currier, of New Hampshire, reported the bill to the house with the amendments which were adopted.

Stricken Clauses Restored. Before the bill was put upon its final passage, Mr. Dailzell, of Pennsylvania, from the committee on rules, reported a rule restoring all the paragraphs stricken out yesterday having relation to the increase in salaries of clerks in first and second class offices, city and rural carriers and railway mail clerks and making a number of important changes from the bill as reported to the house to the committee on postoffice and post roads.

By the terms of the amendments, seven grades of clerks are established with salaries ranging from $600 to $1,200. City letter carriers are divided into five grades, with salaries ranging from $600 to $1,100. The $700 salaries being omitted. Railway mail clerks are divided into six grades below that of the chief clerk, salaries in each grade being increased $100, and ranging from $800 to $1,700. The maximum salary is fixed at $840 for rural carriers.

Sick Leave for Mail Clerks. Two new provisions are added, one providing that the postmaster general may, in his discretion, allow a railway mail clerk thirty days' sick leave in any fiscal year with pay, his duties to be performed without expense to the government during the period for which he is granted leave, and the other that carriers who in June 30, 1907, are regularly employed at $800 per annum shall be promoted to the fourth grade upon satisfactory evidence of their efficiency during the last year's service.

Mr. Williams, of Mississippi, the minority leader, said that his side was in favor of the substantive legislation recommended by the rules committee, but to be consistent the democratic side would have to vote against the adoption of the rule because it curtailed debate. The rule was adopted without division. The bill was then engrossed, read and passed.

Ambassador Nabuco Speaks. Buffalo, N. Y., February 20.—Joachim Nabuco, ambassador of Brazil, here tonight, taking as his topic, "Trade Relations Between North and South America." Mr. Nabuco reviewed the rapid strides towards continental fraternity in the western hemisphere, and prophesied even closer relations between the republics of the two Americas.

FINANCIAL ADVENTURES OF SENATOR JOE BAILEY AS RELATED BY HIMSELF

He Continues the Story of His Money Deals to Investigating Committee.

BAILEY WAS INVOLVED WITH MANY FINANCIERS

And Admits He Profited Largely, But Said All His Deals Were Honorable—Denounces His Opponents As a Lot of Lairs.

Austin, Tex., February 20.—Before the investigating committee of the house and senate today, United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey continued the story of his financial deals with John H. Kirby, the Texas millionaire lumberman; S. G. Bane, president of the Seaboard National bank, of New York; Henry Clay Pierce, president of the board of directors of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company; B. F. Youkum, who is at the head of two railroad systems, and with various other financiers.

One of his most important statements was that he had been asked by the Standard Oil officials in New York immediately after the Beaumont oil field boom, to give them an opinion as to what the opportunities were for them to reenter the state again and do business.

"I gave them a written opinion in which I stated that if they attempted to do business in the state they would be put in the penitentiary, and their property absorbed in fines and penalties," said Senator Bailey.

Bailey's Financial Adventure. Senator Bailey told an interesting story of his adventures in the financial world and firmly maintained that all of his acts and deeds had been honorable and above reproach.

Senator Bailey told of his efforts to assist his client, J. H. Kirby, in retaining his stock from Patrick Calhoun, of Wall street, and stated that the $156,000 he borrowed was because the Kirby-Lumber Company could not legally assume this obligation. He stated that Henry Clay Pierce gave his written guarantee for the payment of this sum of money.

J. D. Johnson, several weeks ago started to testify that this money was borrowed to assist the Kirby-Lumber Company, and not to purchase an oil company for himself in Texas.

The explanation of his former oil interests in Texas was lengthy and more exhaustive in detail. Senator Bailey denied most emphatically that he had conducted an oil business in Texas in company with the Waters-Pierce Oil Company or the Standard Oil Company. The concern which he took over on a debt was known as the Southwestern Oil Company, a subsidiary concern to the Houston Oil Company, this latter company having a timber contract with the Kirby-Lumber Company.

Bailey Got $5,000 for Writing Charter. S. G. Bane, president of the Seaboard National Bank of New York, the senator said, paid him $5,000 not only draw a charter for the Securities Oil Company, but also to draw up the mortgage amounting to about $2,500,000. "A New York lawyer would have charged him $10,000 as much," said Senator Bailey.

B. F. Youkum, he explained, had purchased shares of the Kirby-Lumber Company stock upon his solicitation. These shares were transferred to the Frisco railroad.

Senator Bailey went into details regarding his accounts and the money he received from the construction company. "There was serious apprehensions," he said, "that the Tennessee Central railroad would be thrown into the hands of a receiver again. I went there with, as I thought, an expert accountant. I went back to Mr. Pierce and others interested and told them that it would not be advisable to foreclose on the railroad and take charge of it. I thought the Construction Company should sell its stock to the Southern railway and Illinois Central. I thought that Nashville should have more than one railroad. I sold Senator Bailey the railroad bonds, and I did it. I think the bonds were sold in July, 1905, giving Nashville needed railroads. The city of Nashville had subscribed $1,000,000 for the building of this railroad. I consulted a number of men who were interested in the city's welfare, and they favored my plan. The collieries still belong to the Tennessee Construction Company.

Bailey Denies Disguising Himself. "Did you ever change your clothes and disguise yourself?" asked Mr. Odell, of the committee.

"No," was the reply. "During my trip over the Tennessee Central system, I was in many places along the line and my visits were reported." Continuing he said:

"St. Louis people were interested in the railroad and St. Louis papers were full of it. The people of Nashville were so grateful that they had two public banquets, one each for the Southern railway officials and the other for the Illinois Central. This was not a dollar's worth of securities turned over to me. My duty was to try to do something with the property if I could."

Senator Bailey denied that he had ever represented Adolphus Busch in any transaction. "I have not concluded my attorneyship with the Tennessee Construction Company," said Senator Bailey. "There are some matters that ought to be engaging my attention right now."

Senator Bailey said there was not a shadow of truth that he had accepted Continued on Page Two.

MORMON SMOOT KEEPS HIS SEAT IN THE SENATE

Forty-Two Senators Voted for Smoot and Twenty-Eight Against Him.

SMOOT NOT PRESENT DURING THE VOTING

Dubois, During the Debate, Gave the Polygamist Genealogy of Smoot. Beveridge Spoke in Favor of Smoot.

By John Corrigan. Washington, D. C., February 20.—(Special.)—When the vote on Reed Smoot was taken in the senate today, resulting in permission for him to retain his seat as a senator from Utah, by a vote of 43 to 28, the galleries were packed with the largest assemblage that has filled them this session.

Great interest in the three ballots taken by the senate was manifested, as the crowd had waited for five hours, listening to the argument and awaiting the result.

The overwhelming preponderance of visitors were women. Indeed their attendance whenever the case of Smoot was up for debate, has been most noticeable.

In the audience were representatives of a number of prominent women's organizations, which have been active in circulating and having presented petitions of remonstrance against Mr. Smoot. These women secured many thousands of signatures to their petitions, which were sent to the senate in elaborately bound volumes.

Democrats Generally Against Smoot. Senators Bacon and Clay of Georgia, Tillman and Latimer of South Carolina, and the democrats generally, voted for expulsion. The republican defenders of Smoot sought to correct the statements that he had practiced polygamy, and several addresses by Senators Beveridge, Knox, and others, have been made in his support. Senator Bacon declared his reason for voting against Smoot was that, while probably not a polygamist himself, he was an apostle and member of the governing body of the Mormon church, and as such, countenanced polygamy, and favored a union of church and state.

Throughout the entire speech-making, Senator Smoot listened attentively, but when the voting began, he retired to the republican cloak room, and there awaited the result.

As 4 o'clock arrived, when, by agreement, the voting was to begin, Senator Hopkins offered his amendment to the committee resolution, and it was adopted. Under the amendment a two-thirds vote would have been necessary to carry the resolution, which declared that Mr. Smoot is not entitled to his seat.

The Vote On the Resolution. Senator Carnack then offered a substitute for the amended committee resolution, a simple resolution declaring that Senator Smoot should be "expelled." The effect of this would be to displace the committee resolution if adopted, and it was defeated.

Then came the vote on the committee resolution as amended, which was as follows: Resolved, two-thirds of the senators present concurring, that Reed Smoot is not entitled to a seat as a senator of the United States from the state of Utah.

Although it was a foregone conclusion that the resolution would fail, and thus end the long fight against the Utah senator, the roll call contained some surprises. Of forty-two votes in favor of Senator Smoot, three were cast by democrats. They were Messrs. Blackburn, Clark, of Montana, and Daniel, of Senator Teller was paired in favor of Smoot. Of the twenty-eight votes against Mr. Smoot, nine were republicans.

Smoot Patted on Back. At the conclusion of the voting there was a rush of republican senators to the cloak room to congratulate Mr. Smoot. A large number of members of the house followed, and there the senator Utah senator was patted upon the back, and his hands were shaken in hearty fashion. On the floor of the senate and in the galleries it was many minutes before order could be restored.

In the debate Mr. Dubois took direct issue with Senator Knox's recent statement: "Polygamy in Utah has ended."

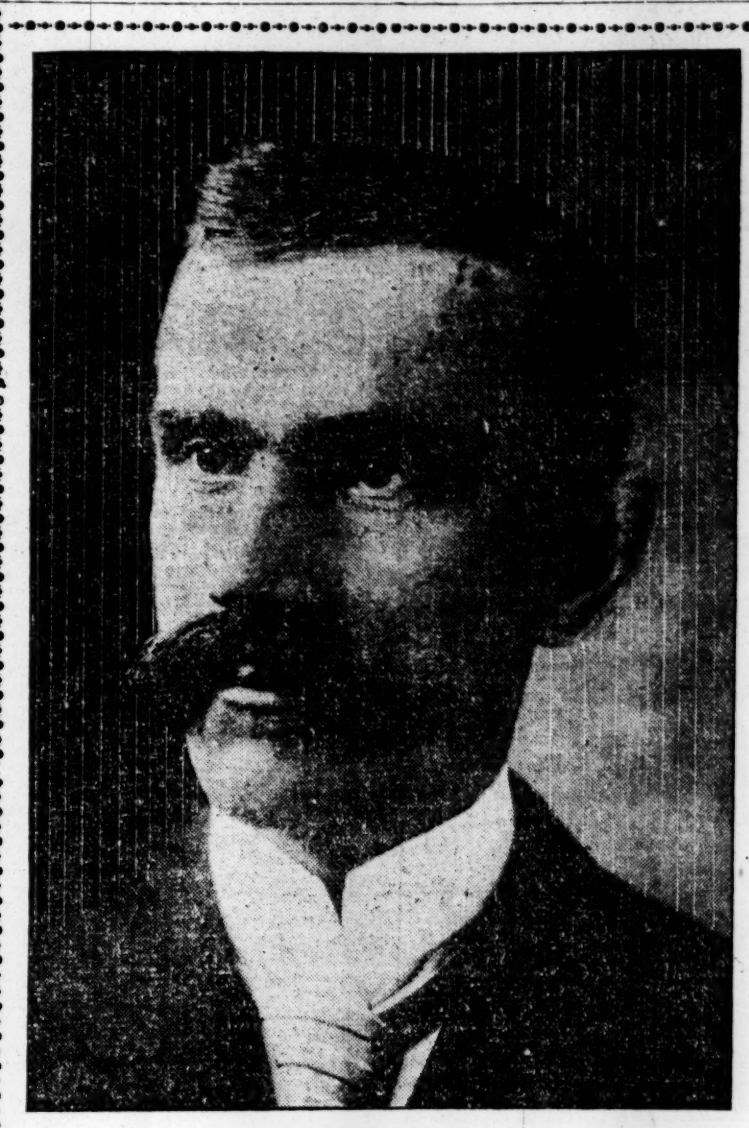

"Five out of the twelve apostles have gone into it since the manifesto," asserted Mr. Dubois. "The president of the church performed the ceremony between an apostle and his fourth wife," he added.

Smoot's Polygamist Ancestry. Turning his attention to Senator Smoot, Mr. Dubois remarked: "Senator Smoot is the son of a polygamist. His father had four wives. When he was the age of manhood he married a polygamist child, his wife being the daughter of a fourth wife of her father. I would not say this if it hurt the feelings of the senator, it does not. No one in Utah will blame him for it. Many will honor him."

Concluding Mr. Dubois declared there were not ten senators who would vote for Reed Smoot if they had read the testimony.

"But I know that strong influences are at work here. The president of the United States is the open friend of the senator from Utah. You all know it. You have got the Mormon vote. You have every one of them, my friends, on the republican side. But it has cost you the moral support of the Christian women and men of the United States."

Apply for Charter. Flovilla, Ga., February 20.—(Special.)—W. T. Smith and associates have applied to council for a charter to put in an electric plant for the purpose of lighting the town and running electric cars to and from Indian Spring.

REED SMOOT, OF UTAH. The United States Senate Has Refused to Unseat Him Because of His Mormonism.

IN SUBTERRANEAN CELL THIRTEEN MEN ENDURED TORTURE FOR MANY HOURS

NEW YORK, February 20.—After being imprisoned for more than eight hours in a tiny circular chamber in the McAdoo tunnel under North river, thirteen tunnel workers were taken out today in a serious condition. Their experience had been a harrowing one, as, when the door of their subterranean cell jammed, they were powerless to aid themselves, and were compelled to listen for hours to the tapping of chisels and the clink of hammers, welded by those who sought to save them. All this time the men were under the intense air pressure, which is maintained in the lower levels of the tunnels and it is feared that many or all of them may suffer from "bends" or caisson disease as a result of their long exposure.

Ordinarily, the men remain under the high air pressure only three and one-half hours. As the thirteen men had just completed their regular tour and were preparing to leave the tunnel when caught, they were under pressure continuously for nearly twelve hours.

TRAPPER MESSER DIES AT THE AGE OF 114 YEARS

CHARLOTTE, N. C., February 20.—Frederic Messer, the south's oldest citizen, famous as a hunter and trapper before civilization blazed a trail across the Blue Ridge mountains, is dead at his home, in Haywood county, at the age of 114 years, 6 months and 5 days.

Messer was born August 12, 1792, in Lincoln county, and in early life, when western Carolina was an unexplored wilderness, peopled by the Cherokees, he located in the mountains 21 miles from what is now Waynesville, the county seat of Haywood county, there pursuing his wild vocation of hunting and trapping.

He was hale and vigorous up to within a few months of his death, frequently walking to Waynesville to attend the county court, and once every year, on his birthday, swimming the Pigeon river, which runs by his mountain home. He married a woman of Wilmington, this state, who bore him nine children, and lived to the age of 84. But one child, now a woman 90 years old, survives him. His age is established by authentic records.

He used tobacco and the corn whiskey of the mountains, in moderation, all his life, and attributed his great longevity to his regular sleeping and waking hours, most of which were spent out of doors.

SHE BEGGED FOR A POISON TO END MOTHER'S AGONY

CINCINNATI, February 20.—Anna Hall, of this city, said yesterday that she had written a letter of sympathy and commendation to Mrs. Lottie Wallau, of New York, under arrest on the charge of murdering her mother, Mrs. Ring. Miss Hall is the daughter of the Arctic explorer, Professor Charles Hall, who lost his life in an expedition many years ago. She is widely known as an advocate of relieving the suffering of the incurably sick, or injured through administering painless but death-dealing poisons, having introduced a bill to that effect in the Ohio legislature.

"I know just how Mrs. Wallau suffered watching the agony of her beloved mother," said Miss Hall. "I passed through that terrible ordeal six years ago. If I could only have obtained an anesthetic I should have administered it to my own mother myself."

"On my knees I begged the doctor to give me a drug that would end my mother's anguish, offering to sign any and all papers exonerating. While refusing me, he said my theory was right, only it was one thousand years ahead of the times."

CASE LIKE THAW'S DRAWS NEW RULING IN KENTUCKY

FRANKFORT, Ky., February 20.—A case similar in many respects to that of Harry K. Thaw, now being tried in New York, was the occasion for a new ruling by the Kentucky court of appeals today.

In reversing a judgment sentencing James A. Shipp of Taylor county to life imprisonment for killing J. A. Smith of Campbellburg, for alleged improper relations with Shipp's wife, the court holds that it was competent for the defendant to tell the jury of a confession to Shipp by the wife regarding her relations with Smith. The confession, he says, she made to him two days before the killing. The court decided that it was not competent to prove her chastity as rebutting the idea that she would have made such a confession to her husband. Shipp avering he killed Smith on sight after hearing the story from Mrs. Shipp's lips. A new trial is ordered.

PLAYGROUNDS FOR CHILDREN ADVOCATED BY ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, February 20.—To cure such space, President Roosevelt says in this letter in part: "Play at present is almost the only method of physical development for city children and we must provide facilities for it if we would have the children strong and law-abiding. We have raised the age at which the child may go to work and increased the number of school years. These changes involve increased expense for parents with decreased return from the child. If we do not allow the children to work we must provide some other place than the streets for their leisure time. If we would have our citizens content and law-abiding we must not sow the seed of discontent in childhood by denying children their birthright of play."

EVELYN THAW GETS NO MERCY FROM JEROME

District Attorney Inquiring Into Minutest Details of the Girl's Life.

YOUNG WOMAN IS COOL UNDER JEROME'S FIRE

She Keeps Her Wits About and Fences Cleverly With Her Husband's Prosecutor—White Put Money in Bank for Evelyn.

New York, February 20.—In continuing his cross-examination of Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw today at the trial of her husband, District Attorney Jerome brought out the fact that in 1902, Stanford White deposited the sum of $1,350 with a New York trust company with instructions that it should be paid to the Nesbit girl at the rate of $25 a week. Mrs. Thaw frankly admitted receiving a number of checks from the trust company, but she would not admit that there was a provision that she could receive the money only when out of employment. The prosecutor spent nearly the entire afternoon in trying to make Mrs. Thaw admit that this was true, but as often and in as many ways as he put the question to her, she gave the one answer: "I don't remember."

Jerome Didn't Spare Girl. Mrs. Thaw's inability to remember a number of other things about which Mr. Jerome questioned her, was by far the most material element in the cross-examination. The district attorney delved into the witness' past life with a familiarity as to details and a store of general knowledge which at times seemed to amaze all who heard, not excepting the defendant's counsel themselves.

Mr. Jerome indicated early in the questioning that he had at disposition to spare Mrs. Thaw's feelings in any way whatever. He interrogated her most pointedly as to her men acquaintances of the past. He laid especial stress upon her acquaintance with James A. Garland, who figured for the first time in the case. Mrs. Thaw said she knew Garland before she met White.

" weren't you named as co-respondent in the Garland divorce case?" asked Mr. Jerome.

Mrs. Thaw was shaking her head when Mr. Delmas sprang to his feet with an objection. He demanded that the record of the divorce case be brought into the court that it might speak for itself. Justice Fitzgerald overruled the objection, but Mr. Jerome withdrew the question.

She Denied Posing in Nude. Mr. Jerome questioned the witness about her manner of posing for artists and brought from her a denial that she ever posed in the nude. Mr. Jerome was insistent for details on the subject. He did not mince words.

Many photographs of Mrs. Thaw were in evidence. Mr. Jerome, during the morning session piled the young woman with questions as to what disposition she had made of the letters written to her by Stanford White.

Some, she said, had been destroyed, and some she had given to her husband.

In the middle of the district attorney's examination with regard to the letters and when he was pressing for an answer as to what had become of some of them, Thaw leaned far over and whispered to his counsel, in a voice audible to those nearest him: "Stanford White stole them."

Attorney O'Reilly thereupon said aloud: "Stanford White got them."

"If counsel desires to testify, we will be very glad to have him do so," Mr. Jerome remarked sarcastically. Later Mr. Jerome indicated that he had in his possession a number of letters written by Stanford White to Evelyn Nesbit, saying he would show her the letters to see if they would not brighten her memory a bit. He changed his mind, however, and the letters were not produced.

Mother and Brother Against Evelyn. Mr. Jerome demanded that Evelyn counsel deliver to the court the Stanford White letters they have in custody, but the prosecutor refused. Mr. Jerome was assisted materially in his cross-examination by typewritten statements made by Mrs. Thaw's mother and by Howard Nesbit, her brother. He consulted the statements from time to time and Mr. Delmas let this fact become known to the jury by remarking upon it.

Mr. Jerome's cross-examination may require several days yet. He jumped about today from one part of Mrs. Thaw's story and one period of her life, to another in a way that baffled any attempt to tell how far he had progressed with his attack. He apparently intends to take advantage of the ruling of yesterday which allows him wide latitude in testing the credibility of the witness. Mr. Delmas, contrary to expectations, interposed few objections. He is evidently preparing, however, to meet the direct examination and this, together with Mr. Jerome's cross-examination on the re-direct, promises to keep the prisoner's wife on the witness stand for an indefinite period.

Mrs. Thaw seemed perfectly self-poised at every stage of the cross-examination. At times her voice trembled perceptibly, but almost always it was clear and confident. She faced with the prosecutor continuously, corrected him at times as to assumptions drawn from previous answers, and occasionally told him his questions were entirely too long to permit of a proper answer. The young woman seemed to be swayed by the district attorney's mood. When his voice was soft and purring, and perhaps insinuating, she answered him in the same low tone, when Mr. Jerome asked questions at her in a loud voice, she replied in kind. When the prosecutor would persist with a question she had answered two or three times, Mrs. Thaw would finally reply with an emphatic nod of her head, speaking slowly, distinctly and defiantly.

The defendant was always alert to catch every word. He seemed impatient at times at some of the questions put by the prosecutor and kept up a running fire of whispered comment with his attorneys.

Evelyn Smiled at Thaw. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was dressed today precisely as she has been on every day since the trial began, even to the little black bow tie. Her face was slightly flushed as she took her place in the witness chair with her usual little smile at her husband. Mr. Delmas moved his chair inside the rail, and seated himself beside the witness box. When Mrs. Thaw saw him she smiled faintly, and then cast her eyes to the district attorney, who was sitting in the witness chair. Evelyn began by showing Mrs. Thaw a photograph of herself taken in a kimono, and asked her if she could recall the date of the photograph.

Mr. Jerome, by his next few questions, indicated that he did not intend to spare the feelings of the young woman in any way.

He interrogated her sharply as to the dress when she was posing for artists in Philadelphia and New York.

"Was there any exposure of the person, or did you wear the so-called artistic draperies?"

Evelyn's Posing Costume. "I would not say that," replied the witness. "I posed in a Greek dress and in a Turkish costume."

Mr. Jerome persisted with questions as to the exposure of the person, and Mrs. Thaw replied:

"I posed with low-neck draperies after the manner of the stage."

"Did you ever let any letters from Stanford White?"

"I did have."

It developed that the forty-two letters introduced yesterday and identified by Mrs. Thaw, were written by Stanford White to another girl.

"Where are Stanford White's letters?"

"Mr. Harridge has some of them," Mr. Jerome demanded the production of the letters. Thaw's counsel made no objection. Mr. Jerome proceeded:

"Did you give those letters to Mr. Harridge?"

"No."

She Gave Thaw White's Letters. "Who did?"

"Mr. Thaw."

"You gave them to your husband?"

"Yes."

She testified that she gave fourteen letters to Mr. Thaw in Paris in 1903. Afterwards she received them from Thaw's valet and gave them to Thaw again, presumably after he had shot white. All of these letters, she said, were received from White while she was abroad in 1903 and were given to Thaw. She also gave him some letters, she could not remember how many, which had been received before that time.

Edna Goodrich Brought In. "Your mother came for you every night."

"Yes, until I met Stanford White."

"Who introduced you to White?"

"Edna Goodrich."

During the time you were in the Flora company, had you ever been out?"

"Yes, with mama and Mr. Garland."

SMOOTH ARTIST RAISED BILLS

Hull Had Government Experts Guessing on His Doctored Currency.

That billraiser, T. M. Hall, who was detected in the act of passing a doctored currency dollar in Athens a few days ago, where he is now residing, from his labors in the Clark county jail, appears to have worked generally, promiscuously and successfully throughout the state.

Since Hall's arrest, it develops that he has been in Americus, Fitzgerald and Albany, at each place getting rid of a raised bill or two. In Albany he foisted upon M. O. Lee, a druggist, a $50 bill. With the aid of a confederate bill, a one dollar note was made, and the work was not only excellent but artistic. In another place he shuffled off a twenty, and at yet another a ten, both having been $1 bills.

In Americus he found one victim, and was turned down by another merchant who did not like the looks of the money, and who was not able, he informs the secret holder, to detect a forgery.

When he was arrested in Athens he had let go a twenty and the change was being counted out to him when the fraud was detected. Two other raised bills were found in his possession, while between his shirt and his undershirt were found a number of counterfeit bills. In one pocket were found a number of figures which had been cut from dead money and were ready for use.

"That fellow is an artist, pure and simple," said a federal secret service man yesterday upon his return from south Georgia. "I have seen much of that sort of work, but I detect the best I have ever studied. I have it in my possession."

An examination of the bill showed its workmanship because the observer had been tipped. Otherwise it would have passed muster.

The druggist who got that $50 bill in one pocket was not a thing of a kind, and swallowed his loss. He said he had rather do that than have the laugh passed around about it.

Evelyn's Estimate of Women. Mr. Jerome then began to ask questions as to the witness' belief in the general statement of women as based on White's unchaste, Mrs. Thaw said she had believed this at first, but later doubted it.

Mr. Jerome then questioned as to the books she had read and other things tending to show her moral training and her estimate of her own morality.

Mr. Jerome asked:

"Were you ever instructed in the Scriptures?"

"Slightly."

"Did you ever attend church?"

"Slightly."

"Did you ever attend Sunday school?"

"Slightly."

"What denomination?"

"I don't remember—I went once to a Methodist church, I think, and to a Presbyterian church, and once to a German church of some sort."

In rejecting Thaw in Paris had you anything in mind other than your own unworthiness?"

"No."

"Do you consider yourself different or better than other women?"

"No, sir."

"Or worse?"

"No, sir."

Mr. Jerome then questioned Mrs. Thaw closely as to the exact date of her terrible experience with Stanford White. She was unable to fix an exact day of the week or month.

In the midst of this line of questioning court adjourned until tomorrow with the cross-examination unfinished.

Charcoal Stops Gas On Your Stomach.

Wonderful Absorbing Power of Charcoal When Taken in the Form of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

Trial Package Sent Free.

Charcoal, pure, simple charcoal, absorbs 100 times its own volume of gas. Where does the gas go to? It is just absorbed by the charcoal—the gas disappears and there is a pure, fresh, sweet atmosphere free from all impurities and germs.

That's what happens in your stomach when you take one of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful purifiers science has yet discovered. You belch gas, you burp, sometimes, by accident, greatly to your own humiliation. That is because there is a great amount of gas being formed in your stomach by fermenting food. Your stomach is not digesting your food properly. Gas is inevitable. Whenever this happens, just take one of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, right after eating, and you will be surprised how quickly they will act. No more belchings, no more sour stomachs, no more flatulence, no more gas, and then if there is any gas going to be formed, one of these wonderful little absorbents, Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, will take care of all the gas.

And it will do more than that. Every particle of impurity in your stomach is absorbed by the charcoal. No one seems to know why it does this, but it does, and does it wonderfully. You notice the difference in your appetite, general good feeling, and in the purity of your blood, right away.

You have no more bad taste in your mouth or bad breath, either from drinking, eating or smoking. Other people will notice your breath, and you will feel better all over for it. You can eat all the onions and garlic you want, and no one can tell the difference.

Besides, charcoal is the best laxative known. You can take a whole boxful and no harm will result. It is a wonderfully easy regulator.

And then too, it filters your blood—every particle of poison or impurity in your blood is destroyed, and you begin to notice the difference in your face first thing—your complexion.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made from pure willow charcoal, and just a little honey is put in to make them palatable, but not too sweet.

They will work wonders in your stomach, and make you feel fine and fresh. Your blood and breath will be purified. We want to prove all this to you, so just send for a free sample today. Then after you get it, you will be sure to like them so well that you will go to your druggist and get a 25c box of these Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

SMOOTH ARTIST RAISED BILLS

Hull Had Government Experts Guessing on His Doctored Currency.

That billraiser, T. M. Hall, who was detected in the act of passing a doctored currency dollar in Athens a few days ago, where he is now residing, from his labors in the Clark county jail, appears to have worked generally, promiscuously and successfully throughout the state.

Since Hall's arrest, it develops that he has been in Americus, Fitzgerald and Albany, at each place getting rid of a raised bill or two. In Albany he foisted upon M. O. Lee, a druggist, a $50 bill. With the aid of a confederate bill, a one dollar note was made, and the work was not only excellent but artistic. In another place he shuffled off a twenty, and at yet another a ten, both having been $1 bills.

In Americus he found one victim, and was turned down by another merchant who did not like the looks of the money, and who was not able, he informs the secret holder, to detect a forgery.

When he was arrested in Athens he had let go a twenty and the change was being counted out to him when the fraud was detected. Two other raised bills were found in his possession, while between his shirt and his undershirt were found a number of counterfeit bills. In one pocket were found a number of figures which had been cut from dead money and were ready for use.

"That fellow is an artist, pure and simple," said a federal secret service man yesterday upon his return from south Georgia. "I have seen much of that sort of work, but I detect the best I have ever studied. I have it in my possession."

An examination of the bill showed its workmanship because the observer had been tipped. Otherwise it would have passed muster.

Here's a book every man should read

"A Book for Men" by Ed Hathaway, M.D.

To "know thyself," physically as well as mentally and morally, is the safest, surest and most lasting foundation of success. "A Book for Men," written by a man of men, this book is for you only.

It is clean, wholesome, frank, truthful, and warns you against dangers responsible for thousands of wrecked lives.

Sufferers from chronic or nervous disorders, no matter of what nature, or of how long standing, write for this book. It tells of cases, including even some of the worst cases of "nervousness," middle-aged men, pronounced incurable, which have been entirely cured to stay.

Don't make the terrible mistake of neglecting to give attention to your trouble through ill-considered "delicacy," or a fear that your case is hopeless.

After years of suffering, many have been surprised at our prompt relief and cure of obstructions in the urinary tract, their delay in not coming to us before.

Our commonsense methods appeal to all intelligent people. There is no air of mystery about our treatment—no groping in the dark, and concealment in mysterious silence.

We tell you at once, in plain words, just what we can do or cannot do.

In all probability, we have had cases just like yours every day for twenty years past.

We devote all of our time to special cases of chronic and nervous diseases.

We know what to do. No experimenting.

Examination, free consultation.

You cannot possibly make a mistake in writing or calling to us. We will simply tell you just to know what a capable specialist thinks of your case, and it costs you nothing.

There is no charge to you for this visit, and it does not place you under any obligation to us whatever.

You will not be urged to begin treatment—rests solely with you. We simply tell you frankly what we can or cannot do in your case.

Call or send for the book. It is free.

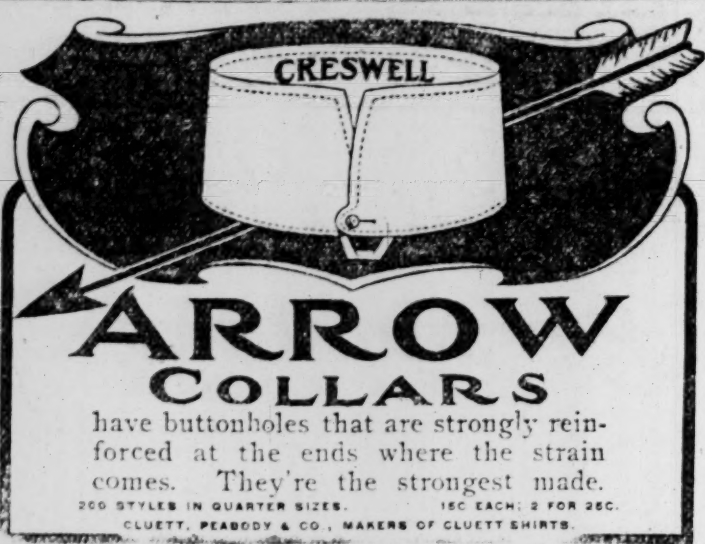

Tear out the coupon now as a reminder.

INLAND WATERWAY IS ASSURED GEORGIA

Appropriation to Provide Inland Route From Mouth of the Altamaha to Brunswick—Mr. Brantley's Project.

By John Corrigan.

Washington, February 20.—(Special.)—The action of the senate in amending the river and harbor bill so as to include an appropriation of $400,000 for an inland waterway from the mouth of the Altamaha river to Brunswick, marks the completion of a project, so far as its legislative authorization is concerned, that has been under advisement for the last half-dozen years by Representative Brantley.

Mr. Brantley believed, and made a most convincing argument to show, that the completion of this waterway through the connecting of two salt water creeks, Club and Plantation creeks, would stimulate river traffic on the Altamaha, the Oconee and Ocmulgee to an extent that would benefit the country as far up as Macon.

The trouble heretofore has been that river vessels have been forced to anchor at Darien at the mouth of the river, which is not a port touched at by ocean-going steamers, or go outside of St. Simons island and face the open sea in reaching Brunswick. For river vessels of light draft, this was not a necessarily dangerous trip in fair weather, but when the sea was rough the trip was not so easy.

Through the new canal, which will be made by connecting Club and Plantation creeks and dredging the channel, the vessels will now have the protection of St. Simons island, affording an easy and safe passage to the wharves at Brunswick.

Since the Mallory steamers touch at Brunswick and the new Atkinson line of steamers also make this port, the advantage to the river trade in the connections thus afforded will be readily appreciated.

Mr. Brantley showed that there is forty miles of water front where wharves may be constructed and only two and one-half miles has been utilized. When the government finishes its work, all that will be necessary will be for the owners of wharves to dredge from their wharves to the channel. The available wharfage fronts are such as to fully supply the needs of Brunswick's increasing business for an almost indefinite period.

With the $496,000 formerly appropriated for harbor work at Brunswick, the senate amendment now makes available $536,700 for the further improvement of that harbor.

The Boys' Wash Suits Are Ready

The washable suits for boys are in full flower. New surprises for the mothers who have little chaps to buy suits for.

For the smaller boys the Cadet Russians and the Sailor Russians are in highest favor, with Sailor blouses either single or double-breasted for the boys from 5 to 10 years.

In materials all the old friends famous for sturdy wear and washing have returned, but in new ways.

Madras, Gingham, Chambray, Reps and Pique. Solid colors and fancy stripes or plaids.

In fact the plaids with collars of solid color are quite the newest of all. In white duck, reps, pique and madras, trimmed in self or contrasting colors.

But you'll want to see these things, for what mother isn't interested in having her boy look his best.

ALL SAINTS CHOIR TO SING, REV. Z. S. FARLAND TO TALK; DON'T MISS LENTEN SERVICE

TODAY, Rev. Z. S. Farland, rector of All Saints, takes charge of the special Lenten services being conducted from 12:10 to 12:35 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. hall, corner of North Pryor street and Auburn avenue. Mr. Farland will officiate today, Friday and Saturday, and his choice of subjects for the three days indicates that his talks will be along practical lines.

Today Mr. Farland will speak on "Religion in Business." Friday he will deal with "Religion in Society," and Saturday he will consider "Religion in the Home." Every man and woman in Atlanta ought to hear these talks by Mr. Farland.

The music for today, Friday and Saturday will be a very attractive feature. It will be furnished by the choir of All Saints, and that means that it will be of the highest order. Miss Nix, soprano; Miss Gamble, alto; Mr. Cundell, tenor; and Mr. McDaniel, bass, compose the quartet that will do the singing.

Yesterday Rev. C. A. Langston concluded his series of helpful talks on the establishment of the Kingdom of God in the lives of men and women. Miss Miller, who possesses an unusually sweet voice, again led the singing.

The attendance Wednesday was very gratifying, being probably larger than at any service since the beginning of Lent. In fact, there has been a continual increase in the attendance, and in the interest manifested, which promise to make the meetings notable in the history of special Lenten services in Atlanta. It is earnestly requested that each one who is attending will feel it a duty to bring some one else. It is hoped that the members of the committees named from the various churches will redouble their efforts to arouse interest in those who have not been attending. The services are already a success, but it is intended to make them memorable in point of attendance. This will be accomplished if those who attend do not go alone, but do some missionary work, and take others with them.

Business men are especially urged to attend and bring their employees. Both will find life the brighter for the 25 minutes spent in the Young Men's Christian Association hall.

Ladies who may be down-town at the noon hour are urged to remember the services and to attend. The influence of that brief period may be immeasurable.

CANNON OPPOSED THESE THREE TO CHARLESTON GO TO OXFORD

Speaker Objects to Immigrant Station at That Port.

By John Corrigan.

Washington, February 20.—(Special.)—It was learned today that Speaker Cannon would refuse to allow consideration at this session of the bill reported yesterday by the immigration committee of the house for the location of an immigrant station at Charleston, S. C. This measure was urged in view of the importance Charleston has assumed as an immigrant port. The speaker professes to believe this money could be better employed in the erection of immigrant hotels at the large immigration centers of the country.

CAPT. MADDOX NEAR DEATH.

Little Hope Entertained for the Recovery of the Well-Known Atlanta Man.

Private information from City Point, Fla., announces that Captain Charles E. Maddox, a many-year resident of Atlanta, is in a dangerous condition physically at his home in the Peninsular State.

Several years ago, Captain Maddox was injured in a street car accident, and for a long time he was confined to his home. He was hurt in the back and in the right lower limb, and within a short time nervous developed in the lower part of the right leg. A few months ago he found it necessary to submit to a surgical operation, which was performed at the Presbyterian hospital. Since then Captain Maddox has been compelled to use crutches constantly. A short time ago he gave up his position in the Atlanta post-office and went to his winter home near City Point, Fla.

Captain Maddox was widely known throughout the south and at the national capital. For years he was one of the few short-hand writers in the south, and served Governor Brown as private secretary in the state house, and when the governor was in the United States senate in Washington. He was devoted to Senator Brown, and he has long had in mind a special issue devoted to the south. Now that one has been planned, he has taken up its preparation with all the enthusiasm of a loyal son of the south. He feels that a great tide of immigration will flow into these states as soon as the people come to know what rich opportunities here await them. To this end the magazine will be directed to exploiting these opportunities in the most practical way. I cannot better illustrate Mr. Page's deep desire to serve the south than by quoting a brief summary of the aims toward which this big

THE MUTUAL LIFE ELECTION.

Administration Ticket Received Majority of 130,000 Votes.

New York, February 20.—The administration ticket of the Mutual Life Insurance Company was elected by a majority of approximately 130,000 in the recent policy holders' election, according to a statement made by the election inspectors to the proxy committees. The vote for the various tickets as given by the inspectors was:

For administration ticket 199,182.
For the united committee ticket, 69,161.

For the third, or fusion ticket, 3,447.
It was also stated that of the 199,182 votes, 132,499 were not challenged, and no special objections raised to them. This in itself is almost twice as many as the united committee ticket secured. In addition 28,664 votes were declared void, and not counted.

FAR AND NEAR

During the past year, we made shipments into every state in the Union, and were also able to make regular customers in five foreign countries.

There is more than "progressive methods" in a record like this. There is strong evidence that our goods have the quality and the flavor.

THE PASSING THROG.

W. S. PHILPOT, of Chicago, general sales agent of the Southern Guaranty Loan Company, is spending a few days in Atlanta, mingling with the many friends he has made during his long residence in Georgia.

Mr. Philpot was for many years identified with valuable hotel properties in the southern states, but several years ago accepted the responsible position he now occupies, and is one of the leading representatives of southern capital and southern industry in the metropolis of the west.

He is at present interested in the development of many large southern enterprises, and reports that southern investments with proper backing are in great demand in northern financial centers. He expressed himself as astonished at the rapid and substantial growth of Atlanta, which he characterized as the "Chicago of the south."

"The greater Georgia, which The Constitution spoke of this morning in the report of the state immigration convention at Macon, we hope to help along in the special southern number of the World's Work." This was the statement of one of the publishers of the magazine, Herbert S. Houston, who reached Atlanta yesterday from New York, and is at the Piedmont with Mrs. Houston.

"In fact," he continued in talking to The Constitution, "this big number of The World's Work for May will be an immigration manual on the south, describing the industries and opportunities of the southern empire. It will be devoted to the south from cover to cover. As you know, the editor of the magazine, my partner, Walter Page, is a southern man, and he has long had in mind a special issue devoted to the south. Now that one has been planned, he has taken up its preparation with all the enthusiasm of a loyal son of the south. He feels that a great tide of immigration will flow into these states as soon as the people come to know what rich opportunities here await them. To this end the magazine will be directed to exploiting these opportunities in the most practical way. I cannot better illustrate Mr. Page's deep desire to serve the south than by quoting a brief summary of the aims toward which this big number will be directed. Here are his words:

"This number of the World's Work will tell specifically by figures and by the actual experience of successful men how farming pays in the south—pays big. As soon as this fact is made known with authority throughout the United States, it will encourage a large immigration of the class of families that are wanted in the south.

"Then, too, the chances for manufacturers will be pointed out with the same aim of attracting the best class of men, men of money and men of skill. The World's Work will aim directly at the most practical results and it will produce them.

"With Mr. Page striving to achieve such results, it becomes apparent what a valuable immigration document this Southern Number of The World's Work will be. We hope and believe that it will focus a world wide attention on the south. It will certainly have a world wide distribution and an issue of such authority and inherent value will be best received by the south for a long time to come.

"Of course Atlanta and this manufacturing Piedmont section of the south will receive a great amount of attention. Mr. Page was much impressed when he recently, by the tremendous growth of the city, Atlanta is distinctly a World's Work time of city, one that is bearing its full part in modern progress.

"Along the line of this issue being a southern immigration promoter, I am interested in telling you of the great pains we are taking to establish lines of reliable communication, so that it will be possible to announce in the Southern Number that it can secure for any inquirer, just the special information he may desire about any portion of the south. This is almost equivalent to making the World's Work an immigration bureau for the south. It is certainly making the magazine serve as a clearing house of southern information and beyond doubt we will receive thousands of inquiries. The value of this service to southern chambers of commerce is manifest.

"While we shall, therefore, make a number that will be a general appeal for the south we are arranging to carry specific announcements for a number of cities that have been quick to see what an unusual opportunity was offered them in this southern number, to specially call attention to their number and advantages. In Charlotte yesterday the city quickly arranged for a special announcement of four pages.

Normally we want such support for this southern number as we can secure. We want it, though, wholly on the basis of the service we can render any city that cares to specially direct how we may advance. We are spending thousands of dollars and months of time in making this special number and we sincerely believe that it will render a genuine service to the south."

EXCHANGE IS OPEN AND TICKERS TICK

First Day on 'Change Proved Success.

Chamber of Commerce Receives Quotations—Rooms Expected to Be Center of Local Trading Within a Very Short Time.

"Tick-tick-a-tick-tick-tick."
Such was the song sung by the telegraph instrument in the commercial news department of the Atlanta chamber of commerce at noon yesterday. All of which meant that United Steel common had advanced a couple of points, some other stock or perhaps the latest fluctuation in the price of cotton. It also marked the opening of the Atlanta stock exchange and a goodly number of interested persons were present to inspect and applaud the inauguration of this service.

It was really most remarkable, but in less than half an hour there were men walking up and down "the floor of the exchange," their hats well back on their heads and their hands thrust deep in their trousers pocket giving the impression that these same pockets were filled with samples of grain, for just such striking attitudes are as necessary when
"on 'change" as is

"A certain hitch
Is the way of a seafaring man."
To the trousers which

It only required about the same amount of time for the tossing off of the technical language that belongs to "the street"
and reminiscences was back to that terrible "black Friday," when "N. Pac."
went to a thousand, at which every hearer frowned very wisely, although it was easily possible to see the expression of relief that came with the explanation that this stood for Northern Pacific.

An Interesting Coincidence.

There were also those who commented on the very remarkable coincidence that this same ticking of the telegraph wire told the glad news in the very face of blue-coated guardians of the law on the noon of the very same day that other wires bearing exactly the same messages to alleged bucket shops were closed through the help of the police, aided and abetted by the Boykin bill.

But seriously speaking, the opening of the exchange proved a great success and it is expected that this metropolitan step on the part of Atlanta will result in very great and practical good to the commercial interests of the Gate City. While the song of the wire was the same as at the stock exchanges in great cities, there was no violent pushing and bidding and shoving and gesticulating that belong to the buying and selling of futures. This exchange is for the benefit of giving information. It is also expected that it will immediately become the rendezvous of grain and produce merchants, and while the trading in futures is under the ban of the law, grain and produce will be bid by the members to each other in cash lots and in this way become a real board of trade and exchange.

It was decided by the directors to keep this commercial news department of the Atlanta chamber of commerce open to the public until March 1. This will give every one an opportunity to inspect this new innovation. After that a guard will be placed at the door and admission will be confined to members, who will be provided with cards.

Secretary Walter G. Cooper and the members of the exchange committee were warmly congratulated on the opening of the exchange and the final success of their arduous and long continued efforts.
Certainly when the "day closed" the many figures on the blackboards listing quotations on cotton, stocks, industrial,
railroads, cotton seed oil, wheat, oats, breadstuffs and other commodities, looked very official and very much the real thing. It is the purpose of the chamber to list Atlanta stocks in the near future.

WOMAN AFRAID OF HER SPOUSE

Mrs. Hillburn Asked Officers to Keep Husband in Jail.

A pathetic little figure of a woman walked into the sheriff's office at the court house yesterday afternoon, and asked the several officers there if they could not offer her protection from her husband, who, she said, and bent her on the day before, and was then in jail under a $200 bond. She gave her name afterwards as Mrs. Hattie Hillburn, and stated that she feared her husband
would be released on bond, return home,
and beat her to death.

Although he was still in jail, Mrs.
Hillburn was very much worried over the possibility of him raising the bond,
and expressed herself as expecting him
to come back home, and attack her if he succeeded.
Deputy Sheriff Perkins advised her to procure a peace warrant with a bond beyond the prisoner's means, and this she did, going with the officer to Judge Bloodworth's, where a peace warrant with a $400 bond was sworn out.
J. M. Hillburn, against whom the warrant will be served, was arrested
Tuesday morning by County Officer Bu-ran on the charge of beating his wife at their home in East Point. It was stated by the officers that he had unmercifully attacked Mrs. Hillburn, and her nervousness over the affair on the day before probably caused her apprehension.
When told by the officers that the peace warrant would prevent her husband from getting out of jail Mrs. Hilburn appeared greatly relieved, and went her way homeward.

vention of the national association in

WHITE POWDER IN CHAMPAGNE

Which Mrs. Wallau Gave to Her Mother.

So a Nurse Alleges—Coroner's Physician Says the Autopsy Indicates Either Natural Death or Poisoning—Mrs. Binge Had a Multiplicity of Diseases.

New York, February 20.—Testifying at the coroner's inquest held today to discover whether or not Mrs. Ida Binge was poisoned by bichloride of mercury, alleged to have been administered by her daughter, Mrs. Lottie Wallau, the coroner's physician, Otto Schultze, said that what he found in the autopsy was consistent both with natural death and poisoning. He was unable to say what the cause of death was, but said that Mrs.
Binge had been operated on for cancer and had had heart disease, inflammation of the kidneys, hardening of the walls of the arteries, an internal tumor and congestion of the vessels of the brain.

Accused Woman Present.

Mrs. Wallau, who is under arrest, charged with the murder of her mother,
was present at the inquest.

Miss Elizabeth C. Devine, a nurse, who attended Mrs. Binge, testified that she saw Mrs. Wallau in the pantry opening a bottle of wine intended for Mrs. Binge, and offered to take it to the patient, but Mrs. Wallau told her to go to the patient's room and she would bring the champagne. After Mrs. Binge had drunk a portion of the champagne, Mrs. Devine said she saw fragments of white powder floating in the remainder. Four days later Miss Devine said she decided to leave and told Mrs. Wallau that she believed
Mrs. Binge was being poisoned.

She Wouldn't Confess.

"She asked me if I thought she would poison her mother," said Miss Devine.
"I asked her if she could trust the servants and she replied that she suspected one of them. Mrs. Wallau told me to let the matter drop and not to go away. I told her that if she would own up to me that she was doing something to her mother, that I might be able to do something for her. She would not do this, so I left the house."

Under cross-examination Miss Devine said she had administered strychnine as a tonic, and morphine and nitroglyc-erine as a stimulant to Mrs. Binge.

DINNER GIVEN HOKE SMITH.

All the Georgia Representatives in Washington Present.

Washington, February 20.—(Special.)—
The feature of the informal dinner given at the Shoreham hotel tonight in honor of Governor-Elect Hoke Smith by Representatives Bell, Hardwick and Bartlett, of Georgia, and which was attended by all the members of the Georgia delegation, including the two Georgia senators, was a mild boom launched for Hoke Smith for president. Judge Hardwick declared that if Bryan was not nominated, Georgia had Hoke Smith to offer the democratic national convention. The remark was accepted as a pleasantry; the opinion since was generally expressed by the Georgians that Bryan would undoubtedly be nominated.

BRIDE QUIT HIM IN SIX WEEKS.

Gen. Pareades, Killed by Castro, Divorced Husband of Chicago Girl.

Chicago, February 20.—General Antonio
Pareades, who, according to dispatches, has been executed in Venezuela for fomenting a revolution, was the divorced husband of Miss Florence Celeste Hutchinson, daughter of the late John Hutchinson, a Chicago lawyer, and for years in the consular service, prior to which time he was governor of Dakota. Miss Hutchinson, to whom the court gave the right to resume her maiden name,
was divorced from General Pareades
February 9, on the ground of cruelty.
Pareades, who was 40 years old, came of a wealthy and prominent Mexican family, owning extensive mining interests and ranches.
Miss Hutchinson declared last night
that she knew nothing of Pareades' Venezuelan venture beyond what she had read in the news. She was married to Pareades September 1, last, after having met him in New York, and the couple separated six weeks later.

SANTO DOMINGO AGAIN TO FRONT

Favorable Report Is Ordered on the New Treaty.

Washington, February 20.—The senate committee on foreign relations today authorized a favorable report on the treaty with Santo Domingo relative to the collection of the revenues of that country by Americans. The action was taken after a very brief sitting and Senator Lodge, who has the treaty in charge, expressed the opinion that there would be no factitious opposition to its ratification by the senate.

Senator Bacon has heretofore opposed the treaty whenever it has come to the surface either in committee or in the senate, but he declined to say today
whether he would continue that course.
The fact is recognized that determined opposition of any one senator would prevent action on the agreement and in that event it is believed that the senate would be called in extra session. It is, however, the general opinion among the senators that a vote will be secured during the present session.

ist in the rebuilding of the city.

NO FREE LEPROS HOSPITAL Except One in Louisiana, Which Ac- cepts Only State Patients.

Washington, February 20.—The hear-penditures of the marine hospital service, the fact that there is no hospital in the United States, to which leprosy patients may be sent without pay, except one in Louisiana, which accepts only state patients. It was also brought out that the proposed leprosy hospital in Hawaii will afford no refuge to American patients. That hospital is intended only for experiments as to the best methods of cure, and only where patients are to be taken one at a time, and those from the leper colony of the islands. On the point of taking patients from the United States, Surgeon General Wyman said that that had been suggested, but that the suggestion had not been acted upon.

MONEY PLEDGED BY THE BAPTISTS

For the Endowment of Mercer University.

Secretary Jester, of the Commission, States That He Is Meeting With Great Success in Raising the Necessary Money.

Macon, Ga., February 20.—(Special.)—Announcement was made, from Mercer University, this morning that Rev. J. R. Jester, secretary of the Georgia Baptist Education Commission, had, on his recent trip through south Georgia, secured pledges for little over $10,000 of the big endowment fund Georgia Baptists are raising for that institution. President Jameson and Rev. Mr. Jester were in conference, and also gave the further information that at an early day they would be able to announce $20,000 more in pledges. The donations are the result of an awakened interest in Baptist education and Mercer university.

It was considered a most significant fact that the secretary has been able at this early date to announce such heavy subscriptions. Members of the commission here believe that they will be able to announce by early summer that $50,000 has been added to the endowment. It is certain that the $225,000, to be raised within the bounds of the state, will be in hand in due time. This, together with the fund of $75,000 already pledged by the general education board of New York, will complete the larger endowment for Mercer, determined upon by the Georgia Baptist convention held in Macon over a year ago.

Secretary Jester has been in the field for only a short time. He has given his attention to enlisting support for the endowment in the southern portion of the state, and has met with great encouragement.

It will not be long before the Baptists of Macon will have a handsome fund to announce for this endowment. People of this denomination throughout Georgia will be called upon to assist in increasing the fund as rapidly as representatives of the education commission can travel the state.

At the chapel meeting this morning the special class at Mercer elected officers for this term. This class is a jolly one, and their election was a source of much interest. This class declares that it can take any honor in college. The officers are: Ralph Bailey, president; Sydney McAdams, vice president; Lottin, secretary; Paul Dyer, treasurer; J. P. Nichols, class guide; "Kid" Elliot, cartoonist; and Walter Williams, bookkeeper. Olesky, janitor, and Stallings, bad boy.

Curtis Boys Want New Trial.

Macon, Ga., February 20.—(Special.)—Joe and Monk Curtis, who were yesterday found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the killing of John Newcome, in a fight near the Southern depot several months ago, and who were sentenced to three years each in the state penitentiary, have filed a motion for new trial. Attorney John R. Cooper represents them, and will fight for a change in results.

Jamestown Laid on Shelf.

Macon, Ga., February 20.—(Special.)—At last night's session of the Macon city council, the members of this body coolly passed up the matter of making an appropriation for the Jamestown exposition, and decided not to donate a dollar to the Georgia exhibit. The action taken was on the report of the finance committee of the body. This was a recommendation denying the appropriation, and without a word, the report was adopted. The fact that other Georgia cities and towns much smaller than Macon have donated handsome sums, had no effect. Unless there is action somewhere independent of the city council, Macon will pass this exposition by with the mild response: "No, thank you."

Orphanage Was Given Charter.

Macon, Ga., February 20.—(Special.)—The Hepzibah orphanage was granted a charter in the superior court this morning. This institution has been operating in Vineville for more than a year and arrangements are now made for a permanent home. Miss Bettie Tyler is in charge and there are numbers of small children under her care.

GREAT CORPORATION TO SHARE PROFITS WITH ITS PATRONS

Regal Shoe Company Invites Subscriptions for $1,500,000 of 7 Per Cent Preferred Stock to Be Used in Extending Vast Business.

Boston, Feb. 18.—Not in years have financial circles shown such interest and curiosity as have been aroused by the announcement that the great Regal Shoe Company, which has grown so phenomenally from a modest beginning 14 years ago, will at once offer for popular subscription $1,500,000 of its 7 per cent preferred stock.

MR. E. J. BLISS

With an authorized capital of $5,000,000, one-half of which is 7 per cent preferred stock and one-half common, $100 par value, full paid and non-assessable, only three-tenths of the total capitalization is offered, according to the announcement. As this $1,500,000 share issue is not divided by any necessity or idea of meeting any indebtedness, but solely for the purpose of enlarging the capacity of its factory and taking care of business already in sight, the success of the plan is trebly assured.

Sixty-five leading banks of the United States will act as depositories for receiving subscriptions and delivering stock. Great care has been taken by the Regal Company in selecting a list of banks.

All subscriptions will be entered as soon as received, on the principle of first come, first served. Every subscription so entered will draw interest from the date of actual entry, the company only reserving the right of rejecting any application, for cause, and of awarding parcels smaller than may be applied for. The fifty-and-sixth of this investment is further attested by the sworn statement of Managing Director and Treasurer, E. J. Bliss, duly certified, that the corporation owns real, tangible and unencumbered assets exclusive of good will, patents and trade marks, of more than par value for every share of preferred stock sold. Also it is attested that the business for 14 years yielded more than enough profits to pay above 7 per cent on $2,500,000.

This is all the more remarkable in view of the very limited capital ($1,500,000) on which this firm was founded by Mr. E. J. Bliss in 1893. Added to these few hundred dollars, however, was an idea, which was simply that high-class shoes, ordinarily offered to wearers at $5.00 per pair, could be made and marketed for $3.50. How? By practicing every economy commensurate with the making of first-class shoes and reducing selling expenses by making Regal shoes in a Regal factory and retelling them in Regal stores.

Mr. Bliss conceived his revolutionary idea in a railroad wreck. Acting with characteristic promptness and securing the cooperation of a few associates, a small store was opened in Boston. The business grew like the fabled bean stalk—from store to factory, and from store to store and city to city until today the company actually controls 122 stores and agencies fed by the immense, but greatly overtaxed, home factory at Whitman, Mass.

A complete list of the 65 banks to act as depositories for this subscription will be mailed free on request, or subscribers may remit direct to E. J. Bliss, Treasurer, Regal Shoe Company, 109 Summer St., Boston, Mass. Remittances should be made by express order, money order, or certified check.

MIGHT RUN THEM OUT OF BUSINESS

Say Corporations About the Proposed Tax

AFFECTS ALL FRANCHISES

Bill to Tax the Intangible Assets of Corporations to Be Favorably Reported by Alabama Ways and Means Committee.

Montgomery, Ala., February 20.—(Special.)—It is of importance to all the business interests of the state that the House committee on ways and means has agreed to report favorably the bill to tax intangible assets of corporations, these being the value to be set upon such things as franchises and rights of various kinds and the value of advantages that are not enjoyed by the people as a whole. This bill is very much feared by such corporations as furnish light and power, and street railway facilities. The president of a corporation of that kind, with a capital of $2,000,000, says that the bill will increase his taxes as much as $2,000 a month, which, with fixed charges already carried, would make it impossible to do business in the state.

This committee has also agreed to favor the increase of tax on fire insurance companies from 1 per cent to 1½ per cent on premiums, and from 1 per cent to 2½ per cent on stock. A hard fight has been made to defeat this, so far as the fire is concerned, it being shown first that the taxes and licenses are now 9 per cent of the business done in the state, and second, that the tax comes out of the people who insure, after all. It is understood that the bill is introduced with the knowledge and consent of the governor, who is said to be in favor of all its provisions. A number of insurance men have tried to defeat this proposition, but the committee is too much committed to it.

State Assessment Board.

The ways and means of the house has voted to report the bill endorsed to provide for a state board of assessment, or, more correctly speaking, a state equalization board. Its duties are to be to equalize the taxes so that one county will not have to pay its share of the taxes and more. The same sort of bill has been introduced in the senate by Mr. Spragins. Mr. Spragins said of his bill: "I had it in mind when I came here to move for some such proposition. Unless there is a better equalization Madison county is going to cut its assessment half in two. We are sixth in the value of farm lands when we should be about half-way down the line. There are counties where the lands are given in at $2 and rented for $4 a year. There is no fairness about this. We want a board that will get the counties on the same basis and will make every fellow carry his own canoe."

The governor is in favor of something of this kind, and it is understood he figures that it would increase the income of the state taxes on about $75,000,000 of valuation.

For Old Soldiers.

The senate committee has agreed to report the bill to increase the appropriation for the old soldiers from $473,250 last year to about $500,000. This provides for raising the amounts each class is to receive. Under the old law they are receiving $60 for the first class, $50 for second, $40 for third and $30 for fourth. The new bill increases these amounts to $100, $84, $64 and $50, or about that amount, the exact division not yet having been settled upon.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the ways and means committee of the house has agreed to recommend that the pension matters be given over to the state board of pensions to look after. This commission could investigate and see that every man or woman entitled to aid receives it, and at the same time cut out those who do not deserve it. This would mean also county commissions for the same purpose.

The municipal bill of Senator Strother has been reported favorably from the senate committee on municipal organiza-

The matter was passed upon officially by this company today, however, and it was ordered that the salaries of all operators, traffic chiefs, wire chiefs, assistant chiefs, and chief operators and managers be increased ten per cent, and that this increase shall apply not only to the principal offices, but to all the offices of the company in the United States."

Special Agent Inspects Newton County's Schools.

Covington, Ga., February 20.—(Special.)—George W. Knorr, special agent of the bureau of statistics of the United States department of agriculture, has been here inspecting the school system of Newton county. He was very favorably impressed with Newton's excellent school system, and took occasion to congratulate Commissioner Adams upon the splendid results achieved by him in building up the rural schools by the adoption of the plan of consolidation and hauling the pupils to school at public expense. Mr. Knorr has been detailed to make investigations into consolidation and transportation among the rural schools of the state. After visiting Putnam, Henry, Laurens, Houston, Early and a few other counties in the state that have adopted this scheme, he will embody the data thus gathered in a report which will be issued in pamphlet form by the department.

Walker Superior Court.

Lafayette, Ga., February 20.—The spring term of Walker superior court convened Monday, Judge Moses Wright, of Rome, presiding. The docket is unusually heavy, and three weeks will probably be consumed in its disposition.

He raised to consider the question of a municipal code, in that nothing of a definite nature had been done along this line so far. Several members hope this will be done, as they say it is the only way to get the matter fixed up. The constitution demanded a law along this line, but the last session failed to provide it and there are some who fear this will go away without it. There are two or three bills under consideration, one drawn by the code commissioner, J. J. Mayfield, but neither has been given any serious attention so far.

STOVE RATE CASE IN HIGH COURT

Nearly Whole Day Spent in Arguing This Important Suit.

Almost the entire forenoon was consumed by the supreme court in hearing arguments in the mandamus proceedings of the Atlanta Stove Works against the Southern Railway. The case is an important one and affects many shippers of Georgia who are seeking redress from the railroads from charging exorbitant rates. The case grew out of order 309, issued by the railroad commission which makes a reduction of 25 per cent on the rates of shipping stoves from distributing points in the state. An injunction was secured by the Palmer Hardware Company of Savannah. The supreme court later decided that the superior court had no jurisdiction in the matter. Later the railroad commission issued a supplement to order 309 extending the reduction to all points in the state. The Southern refused to comply with the order and the mandamus on the part of the Atlanta Stove Works followed. The only other case argued in the Columbus, Ga., February 20.—(Special.)—The brazen alarm bells at No. 5 fire engine house ceased their clamor long enough Monday evening for the golden wedding bells to have a brief but happy season. They stopped at the fire engine house to ask advice and information, and the laddies there, moved by the feeling which makes all the world love a lover, soon placed them in touch with the ordinary, and a marriage license was secured. The ceremony was performed in the fire engine house by Justice J. E. Chapman.

FOR NEW TRIAL PISTOL DUEL PLEA IS MADE IN EAST MACON

Suspended Pending Hearing. Latter Is Mortally Wounded.

No more cases against the alleged violators of the Boykin law will be heard by Judge Roan until the court of appeals hands down a decision on the C. S. Anderson verdict, which will be carried to the high court by his attorneys. In the meantime the hearings of the other nine indicted—Albert Curran, Hollis Curran, John Curran and Gus Escher, under one presentment, and Harry Anderson, Louis Huffaker, Ed Whittlesey, E. Danne, and T. M. Hamilton, Sr., under the other—will be continued under the condition that these suspend their operations until the court of appeals takes action on the test case.

The attorneys for C. S. Anderson, Funder & Rountree, and Colonel Anderson, are preparing a motion for a new trial for their client, and this will probably be passed on Saturday by Judge Roan. The action will suspend the carrying out of the sentence imposed on Mr. Anderson Tuesday by the court.

The chief grounds for a new trial as outlined by Colonel Funder are that the court committed an error in overruling the demurrer presented by the defense at the opening of the hearing on Monday. This demurrer was on the ground that the first counter charge was indefinite, and did not sufficiently particularize how the penal laws had been violated; that the charge made in court of dealing in futures on margin was inconsistent with the innocence of the parties involved as actual delivery may have been contemplated.

Another ground stated in the motion is that the verdict was contrary to the evidence, in that the testimony did not support it. That the court was in error in refusing to charge certain principals, as requested.

MARCH IS MADE INTO HONDURAS BY NICARAGUA

After Battle on Frontier Nicaraguan Forces Cross Into Honduras.

HONDURAN GENERAL
KILLED IN THE BATTLE

It Is Alleged That the Nicaraguan Army Has Captured Important Positions and Is Sweeping All Before It.

Managua, Nicaragua, February 20.—As a result of the hostilities which broke out February 18 between Honduras and Nicaragua, resulting in the repulse of the Honduran army, the Nicaraguan troops are now advancing into the interior of Honduras.

General Carcano, who led the attacking force, was killed during the fighting.

Many Killed and Wounded. San Salvador, Republic of Salvador, February 20.—Dispatches received here by Senor Davila, the representative of Honduras, say that the Nicaraguan army invaded Honduras territory at Portillo del Espino, and that, after two hours' fighting, the invading forces were completely defeated, leaving 37 men killed and many wounded on the field.

Washington, February 20.—The state department has received official confirmation of the press dispatches telling of fighting between the forces of Nicaragua and Honduras. According to the information received, the clash took place last Monday. No details are given. Nicaragua Captures Many Positions. Managua, Nicaragua, February 20.—The Nicaraguan army under Gen. Vasquez and Fornes has defeated the forces to Honduras at several points, capturing important positions.

President Bonilla, of Honduras, has issued a proclamation in which recent events are distorted and appealing for adjustment of the boundary questions which Nicaragua has not taken into late consideration since the king of Spain rendered his award in the matter. From the outset, Nicaragua has only demanded ample satisfaction for the violation of her territory, for the attack made on property and the burning of buildings in Nicaraguan territory by regular troops of Honduras and for the killing of Nicaraguan soldiers, who composed the small frontier guard which was attacked by Honduran troops.

War Is Now Certain. City of Mexico, Mexico, February 20.—First Assistant Secretary of State Aligera, this afternoon said: "A telegram has been received by President Diaz from the president of Honduras saying that at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the 18th, the forces of Nicaragua and Honduras met on the border and a fight ensued. He characterizes the encounter as a small affair. The president of Honduras declared that the Nicaraguans were defeated and compelled to retreat." "It is believed in Mexico City that the telegram from President Bonilla, of Honduras, to President Diaz is tantamount to the non-recognition of the offices of Mexico and the United States and that war between Honduras and Nicaragua is now certain."

7% PREFERRED STOCK Regal Shoe Company

FOR the purpose of increasing its working capital, enlarging its facilities, operating new stores and agencies, to meet the demand for its goods already created, the Regal Shoe Company offers for public subscription $1,500,000 of its 7 per cent. Preferred stock. The Company has an authorized capital stock of $5,000,000, of which $2,500,000 is 7% preferred and $2,500,000 is common, par value of each share $100, full paid and non-assessable.

Only $1,500,000 of the Preferred Stock is offered for public subscription.

This Preferred Stock is preferred both as to assets and dividends, the dividends being payable quarterly on the first day of January, April, July and October of each year.

This stock is not issued to liquidate any indebtedness. The present owners—the founders—are not selling out the business. Every dollar received from this sale of $1,500,000 of 7 per cent. Preferred Stock will be turned into the treasury of the corporation, and used for the immediate extension of its factory capacity, and for taking care of the business which is already assured.

In September, 1893, the Regal Shoe Company was started by a young man whose sole capital consisted of $1500, a practical knowledge of the shoe business, indefatigable energy, and an idea. The original investment of $1500 has grown into a business, the tangible assets and good will of which are worth more than $5,000,000.

The Regal Shoe Company up to the present time has located its chain of stores in the most difficult places as far as competition is concerned—in the large cities of the country. Yet, in spite of this fact, it has achieved an unparalleled success.

In New York City, where retail shoe competition is keenest, $32,000 worth of Regal shoes have been sold to individual purchasers in one day for cash at the standard retail prices—a record never equalled by any other shoe retailer.

Across the continent, in San Francisco, far from its base of supplies, one Regal store sells $250,000 worth each year—the largest specialty shoe business in San Francisco.

The net earnings of the Regal Shoe business for the last 11 years have been in excess of the amount necessary to pay 7% dividends on the total issue of Preferred Stock, $2,500,000, for the entire period, and it is estimated that the new capital will double the present net earnings.

The Regal business has shown an annual average increase of 49½ per cent. each year of its existence, selling only through its 122 exclusive stores and a few established agencies. And yet, today, we are reaching only one-fifth of the population of the United States.

The few exclusive agencies we have been able to supply show an increase in volume of business for the year 1906 over 1905 of 129 per cent.

On December 31, 1906, we had on file 7,369 applications for agencies, but up to the present time, on account of manufacturing limitations, only forty could be accepted.

By increasing the capital so that the manufacturing and selling facilities can be enlarged adequately and immediately, Regal stores and agencies will be located in every city and important town in the United States, and thus the already-created demand for Regal shoes in the vast territory outside that now reached by the existing chain of Regal stores will be supplied.

An Exceptional Investment Opportunity

A BETTER opportunity to share in the profits of a thoroughly established business has never before been offered to the public, because never before have there existed conditions similar to those which make this offer of stock desirable.

The exceptional security of an investment in Regal Preferred is proven by tangible assets—property in plain sight, that can be seen and felt and counted.

The Corporation owns and operates at Whitman, Mass., the largest and most completely equipped factory devoted exclusively to the making of fine shoes. All cash on hand, buildings, box factory, shoe dressing laboratories, power, heat and light plant, all real and personal property, machinery and equipment; all shoes and leather; all supplies; all the Regal chain of retail stores from London to San Francisco; are owned by the Regal Shoe Company, free and unencumbered; no mortgages, no bonds. All these assets, together with a large surplus and depreciation fund already accumulated, positively secure the holders of Preferred Stock.

The Preferred Stock is further secured by the good will of the Regal business, foreign and domestic patents and the trade-mark "Regal," having a value in the open market equal to more than the full amount of the total issue of Preferred Stock.

The stockholders are further protected by the following provision of the charter: "No mortgage or other lien shall be placed upon any of the property of the company without the consent of holders of a majority in interest of the Preferred Stock of the Company."

A statement by the Treasurer and Managing Director, E. J. Bliss, certified to by disinterested public accountants and appraisers of recognized authority, will be furnished to each purchaser of Preferred Stock, to the effect that the corporation owns, free and unencumbered, real, tangible assets of more than $100 for each and every share of Preferred Stock sold, not including the value of good will, foreign and domestic trade-marks, patents and other similar assets owned by the Corporation.

The net earnings for the past 11 years have been in excess of the amount necessary to pay 7 per cent. dividends on the total issue of Preferred Stock, $2,500,000, for the entire period. The latest years are the best. The current earnings are the largest in the history of the business.

Present Owners—The Founders—Not Selling Out

UP to the present time the Regal Shoe Company has been a close corporation, its ownership being vested exclusively in its founders, and each one has a keen interest in perpetuating the great success achieved.

The men actively engaged in the present management are young men in the prime of their powers, which fact eliminates for a long time the possibility of loss of prestige and earning capacity through the loss of the genius that created the business. They will continue to work on the same principles and according to the same methods which have been responsible for the rapid and profitable development of the business up to this date.

The interest which is held by them, represented by the Common Stock, cannot receive one cent of dividend until the full quarter's dividend has been paid at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum on all the Preferred Stock outstanding.

The Regal Shoe Company is recognized by the shoe trade and by leading newspapers and other periodicals, like World's Work, System, National and McClure's, as being the leading shoe concern in the world, founded on the most successful and practical principles. It is frequently referred to by well known writers on business system as having the most efficient and systematic organization for the handling and perpetuation of its business.

All who are interested in this offer are cordially invited to inspect the factory at Whitman, Mass., and make a thorough investigation of the books, files and records of the Regal Company. Every facility will be afforded to all prospective purchasers of stock, or their representatives, who may come to the general offices of the Company to satisfy themselves of the soundness of the investment.

LOVE FIGURES IN FORGERY.

Witness Declared That Devotion to Hebrew Girl Caused Him to Be Hated.

Arthur Dank, bartender for Isaac Sinkovitz, a saloonist at 252 Decatur street, was discharged by Judge Broyles yesterday afternoon, the evidence being insufficient to bind him over for forgery, with which he was charged.

Dank was arrested Tuesday night by Detectives Lanford and Starnes on the charge of having forged his employer's name on two checks on the Fourth National Bank for $10 each. One of these checks, made payable to J. Levins, and ostensibly endorsed by the payee and W. Riesenman, a grocer, was used in the purchase of a half barrel of flour at the Atlanta Milling Company, the young man who made the purchase in the name of Riesenman receiving $7.50 cash in change. The other check, made payable to the name of the payee and that of W. Riesenman, and was used in the purchase of fish from the Fulton Market, East Alabama street, the young man who bought the fish in Deismann's name pocketing the change.

Sinkovitz repudiated the checks at the bank, and this led to the arrest of his clerk, Dank, on suspicion of having committed the forgery.

Dank was given an excellent character by his employer and his friends, and Sinkovitz announced that he would make good the spurious checks.

Harry Baker, who was anything but an unwilling witness, enlivened the proceedings by his unconscious humor. He was also suspected as a possible guilty party in the transaction under investigation.

Judge, said he, "There Jews is all got it in for me 'cause I'm in love with one Jew girl."

What the consequences would have been had he been in love with two he did not say.

SOCIAL CLUBS HIT AGAIN; MUST PAY TAX TO COUNTY OR SHERIFF WILL GET BUSY

JUDGE WILKINSON stated yesterday that only about 10 per cent of the corporations and dealers required by the new law to make a return for special taxes had registered so far, although the last day for this was January 1. In case of failure to register parties coming under the law will be subject to the action of the grand jury, and it is probable that something will be done at the session of that body before the March term of court. In the list are included social clubs, and none of these have yet registered with the ordinary. As estimated by Judge Wilkinson there are from 1,000 to 1,200 dealers and corporations in the county, and 900 of these have failed to comply with the law. In the list are automobile typewriter, pistol, and cigarette dealers, pawnshops, immigrant agencies, shows and circuses, photographers, auctioneers and keepers of pool tables, social clubs, and so forth.

CLERK OF CIRCUIT COURT A VERY POPULAR OFFICER

FROM dentistry, a profession he had thoroughly mastered and in which he was making a pronounced and decided success, into the government service, where he has shown eminent capacity and ability—that is a paragraph in a running life.

O. C. FULLER

Sketch of O. C. Fuller, clerk of the United States circuit court at Atlanta.

Young, full of energy, devoted to his work which he has long since mastered in its every detail, Mr. Fuller is considered one of the best officers in the service of the national government in the south. Of a pleasant, genial and an ever happy disposition, he draws about him new friends every day, until now a roster of his admirers and well-wishers would be hard to make. If ever Olin Fuller uttered a harsh or unkind word to any one with whom he came in contact, it is not on record.

AS CUT FLOWER CENTER ATLANTA RANKS WAY UP

ATLANTA has gained a national reputation for excellence in many things, but it is not generally known that in some particulars this city is the largest grower of flowers in the entire United States. Considering the manner in which flowers for the trade are grown, and the scores of larger cities in the north and west, which grow rare flowers, this statement seems incredible, but it is none the less a fact.

William Hageman, of the firm of Hageman & Co., the largest importers of bulbs in the world, who is in the city, is authority for this statement.

"Atlanta is the largest flower center in the country south of Washington, D. C." One company in this city—the Westview Floral Company—buys more Dutch hyacinth bulbs than any in the United States. Over 60,000 bulbs of this flower are sold to this firm alone. No city in the country can approach the perfection which Dutch hyacinths reach in Atlanta. Hyacinths are grown in Atlanta with stems of sixteen inches, of which eight stems contain blooms.

"Atlanta also leads the whole country in the purchase and growth of paper white narcissus. The narcissus is a south of France flower, and there they contain from ten to twelve flowers on a stalk. Here in Atlanta eighteen to twenty-two flowers is nothing out of the ordinary. T. W. Burford, of this city, is one of the greatest experts on these two varieties of flowers to be found anywhere.

"If Atlanta would only increase the capacity of other greenhouses she could sell direct to New Orleans and other sections of the country that now get their cut flowers from Chicago, which is the largest flower center in the world."

"The growth of the cut flower industry in this country is something enormous. When you consider that the United States purchases more Easter lily bulbs than the whole of Europe, some idea of the industry can be gained. Add to this that Atlanta buys more hyacinth and narcissus bulbs than New York and Chicago, and you have an idea of Atlanta as a flower center."

Mr. Hageman's trip south this year he sold $50,000 worth of bulbs of various kinds.

Examining the Risks.

Savannah, Ga., February 20.—(Special.) S. H. Lockett, of New York, who is making a round of the cities of this section, is in Savannah to make an investigation relative to the "confession risk" as it exists here. He is taking a look at the city's density of buildings, with a view to determining, for the big fire insurance companies he represents, whether or not there is a decided element of risk of a general conflagration in case a fire should get a start of the firemen. It may be that a change of insurance rates will follow the inspection Mr. Lockett will make in Savannah and other cities he is to visit.

TAKING "ART" PHOTOS COST CARTER HEAVILY

Fine of $50.75 Imposed on Amateur, Who Had a Young Girl Pose in Very Scanty Garments, While Her Mother Looked On.

AN advertisement published last Sunday a week ago, and again on last Wednesday, was the cause of a sensational art expose in Judge Broyles' court yesterday afternoon. The advertisement sought the services of a young, and good looking young woman to pose as an artist's model.

The advertisement met the eye of Mrs. David W. Mallory, the wife of David W. Mallory, an engineer, residing at 46 Piedmont place. Mrs. Mallory showed the advertisement to her pretty 15-year-old daughter, Annie May Mallory, who, although a child of Mrs. Mallory's first husband, adopted her stepfather's name.

Whole Family in Court. Incidentally, the reading of the advertisement and the train of events flowing therefrom led to the appearance of the whole family in Judge Broyles' court yesterday afternoon, and caused the "artist"—an amateur photographer in this instance—P. D. Carter, a lino-type operator, about 35 years old, a married man, and a student at one of the medical colleges in the city, to contribute $50.75 to the city's coffers.

Several days ago Officers Rosser and Rowan began investigating Carter, their suspicions being aroused that he was engaged in some illegitimate business. Although Carter has lived in Atlanta 20 years, he was at first taken by the officers for a stranger, hence the investigation. This investigation led to the belief that Carter was taking photographs of pretty Annie May Mallory, in the "altogether," or practically so, at a room in the Virginia hotel, No. 7 Broad street, which he had rented under the name of Frederick Johnson, by which name he was addressed by Miss Mallory when she replied in writing to the advertisement.

Officers Rosser and Rowan confiscated the photographs and plates which Carter had taken of Miss Mallory, and these were introduced in evidence before Judge Broyles at the trial yesterday afternoon.

Miss Mallory, a pretty brunette, with raven hair, and the eyes of an houri, stood before her mother and stepfather, and seemed to relish the proceedings. The young lady is small, but well developed, wearing a dress falling midway between the knee and shoe-top. Her availability as a model was apparent, even had the photographs not been put in evidence.

After the officers had testified, a half dozen or more of the photographs, showing different poses, were offered in evidence. In all of these Miss Mallory was shown in the utmost simplicity; she wore a pleasant and engaging smile, and a breech or loin cloth supplied the place of the Biblical fig leaf, which Eve wore after she had handed Adam an apple. Save for these, she wore naught but nature's garb.

Mother Saw No Wrong. Mrs. Mallory stated that she saw no wrong in allowing her daughter to pose as shown in the photographs; that the girl herself first proposed to offer herself as a model, desiring to earn the money, and that she had accompanied her to the hotel, where she was dressed—or rather undressed—for the camera's work.

"Judge," said Carter, "I have lived here 20 years. I am married, am a lino-type operator, and being a medical student, took the pictures for the purpose of helping along with the expenses of my education. I did not think it was wrong; it was 'art for art's sake'."

"You asked me," interrupted Officer Rosser, "what I thought of a mother who would permit her daughter to pose in the manner in which Miss Mallory had posed for you."

"I was taking the pictures," continued Carter, "for the purpose of selling them to the Western Art Company, 324 Desplaines avenue, Chicago, for 50 cents apiece."

"What do they wish with them?" asked Judge Broyles.

"They use them on calendars," replied Carter. "Judge," he concluded, "I have always borne a good character, and ask you to treat me with leniency; I am married, and if I have violated the law it was done unintentionally."

"Judge," said Officer Rosser, "when I first arrested him this morning he was walking on the street with a secret woman."

"He's a cosmopolitan, I guess," said the judge. "Artists are not to be judged by the hide-bound rules which hedge other mortals. They have that divinity which doth hedge about a king."

"I thought that poor creature breakfasted, the artist, observed in a sad and dignified tone."

After delivering a scathing lecture to Mrs. Mallory, Judge Broyles fined Carter $50.75, which he promptly paid.

FRUIT GROWERS GATHER TODAY BY NEIGHBOR

Five States to be Represented at Convention.

Sessions Will Last Two Days
From Four to Five Hundred Delegates Will Be in Attendance—Will Meet at Kimball.

Probably the largest convention of horticulturists ever held in the south will take place this morning at the Kimball house, when fruit growers from five southern states, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, South Carolina, and Tennessee will meet at 10 o'clock.

There will be present in convention between 400 and 500 delegates. The sessions will last for two days, at which time the following lists of subjects will be taken up for discussion: As to how far and in what way we should unite and operate in the distribution of our fruit to avoid crowded markets and to reach all paying markets.

How we may best and quickest present our claim to the interstate commerce commission for redress against excessive transportation charges.

How we may secure better facilities for handling and inspection en route and at destination.

How we may secure prompt settlement from railroads and commission merchants for losses and damages and shortage in returns.

How we may secure the best crates at reasonable prices.

How the canning industry can be best developed and made useful in handling our crops.

The meeting is one of the utmost importance for the horticultural interests of the south, and not only are the methods of fruit growing to be discussed, but measures will be passed to fight against inadequate transportation and oppressive freight rates.

Last night the corridors of the Kimball were filled with the advance guard of the fruit growers who arrived on all the afternoon and evening trains.

Among those who came last evening were some of the largest and most successful growers of the state, men who have extensive acreage in fruit and who have made successes in this branch of agriculture.

These arrived early and will be on hand to take an active part in the session to be held this morning. Others came in on different trains during the night and at the first meeting of the convention hall will be practically filled with some of Georgia's most successful men.

S. H. Zellner, of Zellner, Ga., was among the early arrivals. He has large orchards located not far from this little Georgia city and makes a specialty of peaches. Zellners are also grown by him to a great extent, 25 acres of an orchard of 100 acres being devoted to the trees. The remaining 75 acres contain peach trees.

J. B. Fleming, of Johnson, Ga., also arrived last night. He is the owner of a 75-acre orchard near Johnsonville, and in addition to his peach trees he yearly gathers large crops of plums, which are successfully grown in his part of the state.

A fellow townsman of Mr. Fleming who has reached the city is P. F. Butler, who also has plum and peach orchards. Mr. Butler estimates his orchards as covering over 100 acres, and like many of the growers, the peach is in the majority in his crop.

H. A. Matthews, of Fort Valley, the center of the greatest peach belt in Georgia, arrived yesterday. He is another successful grower and has a large acreage in Elberta peach trees.

Brother of Mrs. E. C. Thrash and Mrs. W. A. Silman, of Atlanta, Is Shot Three Times by Geo. Brown. Witness Says Shooting Was Justifiable.

Concord, Ga., February 20.—(Special.) Harvey Crouch, a well-known young farmer of Silvey, in Meriwether county, was shot and killed at an early hour this morning by George Brown, a neighbor.

It is reported that the two had had some kind of dispute over a land trade and this morning Crouch went to the home of Brown, where they engaged in a quarrel, during which Brown made some statement to which Crouch took violent exception, stating that he would kill Brown if he did not retract what he had said, reaching for his pistol as he spoke. At this juncture Brown drew his own pistol, an automatic weapon, and shot Crouch three times, killing him instantly.

The only eye-witness to the tragedy, Dave Thrash, states that the killing was in self-defense and that Brown was justified in his act.

Both parties to the affair belong to prominent families and numbered their friends in this section by the score. Both were farmers. Crouch leaves a wife and one child, an infant a year old. He is also survived by three brothers and three sisters.

Two of his sisters, Mrs. Dr. E. C. Thrash and Mrs. W. A. Silman, are residents of Atlanta.

WM. M'KINLEY OUT OF PRISON

Convict Bearing Honored Name Arrested as Soon as Released.

That historic name, William McKinley, was eliminated from the roll call at the federal prison yesterday after having been called daily for the past five years.

McKinley, a young white man of excellent physique and more than ordinary good appearance, was sent up from Charleston, S. C., a half decade ago, and during that time has made a model prisoner. He was one of the gang of Carolina outlaws, three of whom were released Monday last, and as the others, he was wanted in that state for taking part in the robbery of a state bank.

As he was handed his discharge papers yesterday, a Carolina official stepped to the front and placed him under arrest for a return to the point at which he was wanted.

At the same time R. W. Jarrell, who had been sent up from Greensboro, was given a clearance card. Jarrell had served a year and a day for violating the United States internal revenue law. He swore off a fine of $100 which had been imposed at the same time, and as there was nothing against him pending, he was allowed to go his way in a happy frame of mind.

Two more convicts, both long-time men, will be released Friday.

SOCIETY

SPEER-HUNTLEY WEDDING

BRILLIANT SOCIAL EVENT

THE wedding of Miss Janie Speer and Mr. William R. Huntley, of Buffalo, N. Y., took place last night at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Speer, on Peachtree place, and was one of the most brilliant social events of the season.

The ceremony took place in the drawing room, Rev. Orme Plinn officiating, while as witnesses were a large assemblage of Atlanta's most representative people.

Mr. Robert Huntley, the groom's brother, was best man, and his sister, Mrs. Robert, was maid of honor. Miss Fernald de Ninny was maid of honor, and the bride's sister, Miss Aurelia Speer, and her cousin, Miss Silvery Speer, were flower girls. The white ribbons, marking the aisle from the base of the stairway, were carried by Mr. George Speer, Jr., Mr. Joseph Montague, and Mr. William R. Huntley. When the Lohengrin wedding march was heard the bride descended the stairway, Mr. Speer and Mr. Montague coming first. Then Miss Aurelia and Silvery Speer, Miss de Ninny followed, with Mr. Hillman, Mrs. Chapman directly with the bride, who entered the drawing room with her father, and was met by the groom and his best man. After the ceremony there was an informal reception, and during the evening an elegant supper was served.

In the receiving group with the bride party were Mrs. Speer, Mrs. Lewis Beck, Mrs. Edgar Van Etten of New York, Miss Clark of Boston, and Miss Butler of Buffalo.

The Decorations.
The decorations were entirely green and white, the green expressed in quantities of southern bamboo, palms and ferns, and the white in lilies of the valley, bird's nest, and carnations.

In the drawing room, where the ceremony took place, the bride and groom stood under an arbor of smilax, studded with carnations, and hung with sprays of lilies of the valley. Forming an aisle from the base of the stairway to the drawing room were colonial columns in old ivory woodwork, each column surmounted by cluster of Easter lilies, tied with bows of white tulle. On the mantel the mirror was partially veiled in asparagus fern, and reflected the stately blossom of the Easter lily in tall crystal vases.

In the library adjoining the drawing room, the decorations were of palms, the cabinets banked in ferns, through which showed in full bloom clusters of bride roses. In the hallway the same decorative effect prevailed, and the woodwork of the winding stairway was hung with southern bamboo, sparkling lilies, and there, star-like, with tiny electric lights. In the dining room, where the bride and groom and their immediate party were seated about a circular table, the decorations were in lilies of the valley and carnations.

The centerpiece was a circular plateau of lilies and carnations, about which were silver candlesticks, their lights softened by shades of silver.

Between the candlesticks were smaller plateaus of the lilies, and all the cakes filled with gold glass dishes, and the candlesticks had yellow shades.

Mrs. Rice was becomingly gowned in hyacinth blue messaline and Irish lace.

Mrs. Sykes wore black velvet and lace with a touch of blue in the trimming. Mrs. Boynton was gowned in black lace, and Mrs. Glover wore white lace.

Surprise Party.
ONE of the most thoroughly enjoyable and delightful informal social events of the present week was the birthday surprise party given to Mrs. A. T. Jordan, at her residence, 48 Walker street, by several of her lady friends.

Dainty refreshments of cakes, fruit, chocolate and fruit were prepared by the guests and the choicest of floral decorations were sent to adorn the Jordan home for the pleasant occasion.

Aside from the pleasing entertainment prepared by the ladies, at the close of the evening, they presented Mrs. Jordan with a handsome hand-painted chocolate set, Mrs. A. C. Turner making the presentation speech in a beautiful and appropriate manner. Those present were: Mrs. James L. Mayson, Mrs. W. H. Terrell, Mrs. Edgar H. Orr, Mrs. W. M. Nichols, Mrs. W. T. Trussell, Mrs. W. L. Hanly, Mrs. Edgar Kelley, Mrs. C. S. Reynolds, Mrs. Edna Reynolds.

Domino Luncheon.
MRS. F. P. HEIFNER'S domino luncheon yesterday was a beautiful affair in honor of Mrs. B. P. Brooks, of Forsyth, and Mrs. Harry Inge, of Mobile, who is the guest of Mrs. John F. Purser.

The George Washington birthday was anticipated in decorations of red, white and blue, violets, narcissus and red carnations forming a fragrant suggestion of the national colors.

In the dining room the table cap-

Mrs. Heifner's luncheon gown was of pink silk and lace. Mrs. Inge wore blue chiffon broadcloth and Irish lace. Mrs. Brooks wore a hyacinth blue chiffon velvet, satin striped, and trimmed with lace.

To Miss Patten.

MISS MAY BANCROFT'S bridge party yesterday was a delightful affair in honor of Miss Patten, of Wicksburg, Pa., the guest of Miss Myrtle Tye.

The prize, a hand-painted fan, was won by Miss Hazel Adkins.

The house was prettily decorated with jonquils, and the game was followed by a delicious hot luncheon.

Mrs. Bancroft wore a becoming gown of blue silk, and Miss Patten wore a green cloth suit of invisible plaid pattern with a walking hat to match.

Euchre Party.

MRS. ROSS BURNS entertained delightfully at cards last night at her home on South Pryor street. Her guests numbered twelve, and they were served dainty refreshments after the game of euchre.

The prizes for the ladies were a brass candlestick and a picture and for the men a box of handkerchiefs and a deck of cards.

Sewing Party.

MRS. PRIOLEAU ELLIS gave a spend-the-day party Thursday at her attractive home on West Peachtree, and the occasion was a very delightful one.

There were twelve ladies, and they spent the day most happily in sewing and chatting.

The luncheon was a delicious one, served at a table bright with jonquils, and the place cards topped sewing boxes filled with all the essentials for mending.

Course Luncheon.

PLANTENE

Free from the Impurities of Lard

Plantene's purity begins with the first development of the cotton seed, and from the cotton field to the shipping room every precaution is taken to prevent the slightest contamination.

The natural condition of cotton seed oil is purity.

The natural condition of the hog is filthiness.

The cotton seed nestles in the very center of a protecting snow-white covering—the oil is inclosed first in a protecting shell, then in a tiny cell of tissue. Thus Nature herself protects the oil from all possibility of outside contamination.

In extracting the oil, we use methods which are equally efficient in protecting its absolute purity.

Plantene reaches the consumer as the perfectly pure product of prime golden-colored cotton seed oil—Cleaner than lard—more healthful than lard—finer flavored than lard—with shortening properties far superior to lard.

The purity of Plantene is not attained by any other shortening.

PLANTENE also takes the place of butter for all shortening—goes twice as far as Lard or Butter—does the same amount of shortening at half the cost.

480 PETTICOATS LIKE THESE AT 1.00 EACH

Consider the cotton market for a moment and you'll strike the keynote of this Petticoat economy without even considering the making.

The stripes are in French Percales--fast colors, of course--narrow, wide and medium stripes.

The plaids in mercerized weaves.

And Madras in stripes--oxfords, medium and dark blue, pinks and tan.

Also in solid black. These Petticoats have all the features desirable--good material, good patterns, good colors, neatly made and finished full and liberal with nothing skimped.

480 Petticoats by actual count in five different patterns, three of which we duplicate here. And the drawings are faithful reproductions--also patterns, fullness, depth of flounce and ruffles.

Petticoats made to sell at 1.50, and a quality that we bought to sell at 1.50, and they would be modestly priced at 1.50.

But today --Thursday-- we've decided to have a sale at one dollar, and you know what Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Sales are for producing values.

NEW SERVICE

FOR LAGRANGE

Management Decides Against Through Trains Over West Point.

The Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic will inaugurate their new schedule from Brunswick to LaGrange on March 3. The present schedule east of Oglethorpe will remain unchanged. Train No. 1 will continue to leave Waycross at 8:20 a. m., and will run on through to LaGrange, arriving at 6:05 p. m. Going east, train No. 4 will leave LaGrange at 10 o'clock in the morning, and arrive at Waycross at 7:15 p. m.

The installation of this new service will mean much to the best interests of the central and southern sections of the state. This service will also mean railroad facilities for a number of Georgians who have never enjoyed this privilege before. By the running of trains through to LaGrange, this will mean another route to Atlanta from this section, passengers coming to this city from LaGrange over the tracks of the Atlanta and West Point.

After much consideration, the management of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic has decided not to run through equipment from their line into Atlanta over the tracks of the Atlanta and West Point. The road expects to be completed into Atlanta this summer at which time through trains from Brunswick will be run over their own tracks.

While only one train each way will

WAR ON KELSEY

New York Governor Asks Senate to Oust Insurance Superintendent.

Albany, N. Y., February 20.--Governor Hughes sent to the senate this morning a special message recommending the removal from office of State Superintendent of Insurance Otto Kelsey.

The message was read and referred without debate to the committee on Judiciary of which Senator Davis, of Buffalo, is chairman.

In making the recommendation the governor says:

"With respect to life insurance, New York is easily the most important jurisdiction in the United States. If not in the world, and the vast interests involved imperatively require, and it should be a point of honor for the state to maintain a fearless and efficient administration of its supervising department commanding the confidence of the people.

"I recommend Mr. Kelsey's removal, because as head of this department he has conspicuously failed to perform duties of the first importance, and his neglect has demonstrated his unfitness for the trust confided to him."

SENIORS SANG

THE CLASS SONG

Juniors the Night Before Cut Class Tree to Pieces.

Young Harris, Ga., February 20.--(Special.)--The senior class of Young Harris college held their class exercises in the chapel. The exercises were highly enjoyed by all present. It is the largest senior class in the history of the college, consisting of 23 members. The prophecy of the class, read by Miss Ethel Autry, was considered the best part of the program, from a literary standpoint.

When the seniors rose to sing their class song ridiculing the juniors, having been prohibited from practicing the said song by the juniors, they were unable to sing it successfully, because they were applauded to the echo.

The juniors gave them trouble from the first, and on the night previous to the exercises they succeeded in getting the senior class tree, and cut it to pieces on the campus before the student body. The seniors' tree was the cause of a lot of fun, but everything is over now, and the classes working nicely side by side.

Thirty-Five-Horse Power Oldsmobile Entered by the Southern Automobileists.

First Automobile Race in Atlanta's History Will Be Pulled Off Tomorrow With Becoming Ecstasy.
Large List of Entries.

ATLANTA'S first automobile race will take place Friday afternoon when the hill-climbing contest, all of the arrangements of which have been perfected, will be pulled off on the Stewart avenue road, with a large number of entries participating.

Although the size of the list has come up to the expectations of the promoters, it is thought that more will come in, and, to accommodate the late arrivals, entries will not close until 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Six cups have been donated for the winners, and, in addition, there are other prizes offered. E. V. Haynes presented a cup for the winner in class 1, with a second prize, an auto horn, given by the Alexander-Elyea company. For class 2, E. H. Inman gave a cup for the first prize, and The Southern Automobileist a like trophy for the second. The Coca-Cola Company has given a cup for the winner in class 3, with gloves, donated by Law Bros., as the second prize. John E. Smith offered the cup for the fourth class, and George R. Law offered a cup for the second car to come in. The Atlanta Journal presented the cup for class 5, and Goodrum Bros. clears as the second prize.

Conditions for the Contest:
No. 1. Cars listing at $1,500 or under. Owner to drive. To carry four adult passengers.

No. 2. Cars listing at $2,500 and under. Touring body with equipment.

No. 3. Cars listing at $3,500 and under. Touring body with equipment.

No. 4. Runabouts. Any price. To carry two adult passengers.

No. 5. Five for all runabouts or touring cars. With equipment.

At least three entries and contestants are required for each class. All cars shall run with mufflers. Muffler cut-outs shall not be used.

Entry fee in each class $1.

The events will commence promptly at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and failure of any entry to be on hand to answer to the call will constitute a withdrawal.

The start will be from the end of a mile from the end of the barracks car line, on which cars are taken to reach the scene of the race, and a flying start will be made on a hill with a grade of about 5 degrees. Then comes a level stretch of 850 yards, then the hill where the finish will be made varies in grade from 10 to 25 degrees.

The starting will be worked by wire, a gong sounding at both the start and finish when the cars get off and also when they reach the tape, and two timers will hold watches on them. This timing arrangement will be put in by John Toole, Bob Almond and R. F. Rutledge, this morning.

Officials for the Race:
The officers of the race are as follows: P. Stevens, Judge; Paul DeWitt, announcer; Gus Castle, timer; Dick Holman, clerk; F. E. Rutledge, secretary.

The local enthusiasts for some time past have been hoping for a winner, and it seems that John Toole, driving a 50-horse-power Starnes, 1907 model, is the favorite.

In case Dan Lyle's 50-horse-power American works all right, he has a strong chance for victory. John E. Smith, in a 16-horse-power car, is also one of the best bets. Others whose chances are considered good are F. E. Rutledge, 20-horse-power Franklin, V. Haysen, 20-horse-power Ford, 20-horse-power Northcutt, with a 16-horse-power Mitchell, and Mr. Dunbar, 20-horse-power Mitchell.

In the runabout class, the 22-horse-power Buick of Lowry Arnold's looks good, as do the Ford and Oldsmobile. The smaller machines are looked on as dark horses in this class, and for some of them to win would not be surprising.

A special car will take the newspaper representatives to the course, and will be placed at their service in following races.

Those Who Have Entered:
The full entry list follows:
E. L. Wright, Jr., Pope-Hartford, 25-30-horse-power.
Lowry Arnold, Brunswick, 12-horse-power.
W. O'Donnally, Franklin, 12-horse-power.
R. W. Northcutt, Marietta, Ga., 20-horse-power.

BECHER SIGNS
HIS CONTRACT

Hard-Hitting Outfielder Forwards Contract and Will Join Firecrackers.

Jesse Becher came across yesterday in sending his signed contract to Billy Smith. There was doubt as to the handing of Becher, and as he is touted as a wonder, the official announcement that he has become a member of the Firecracker squad gives additional strength to the team.

The contract was forwarded him some time ago and the fact that he held off for a lengthy period resulted in a fear that he might not join the locals.

Becher was drafted by Cincinnati at the instigation of Ted Sullivan, the famous scout from the Lake Linden, Mich., team of the North Copper League, where last year he hit 326 in 119 games and had a good fielding average as a result of nice work in the outfield. This was his regular position all the time.

That he is a good man is vouched for by Ted Sullivan, who branded him as the only man in the league that would make Cincinnati timber, and who, after looking over the North Copper circuit, passed them all up except the new Firecracker.

Business Opportunities on the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

FERTILIZER FILLER PLANT—We have a very extensive deposit of so-called graphite between Atlanta and Birmingham, which makes a very fine filler for fertilizer, and can be adapted to other commercial purposes as well. Additional attractiveness is given this property, because class by is a number of 30-ton shale and a white clay, and by mixing these in the proper proportions a filler suited to almost any fertilizer could be produced. COTTON GIN—A good location in Coosa Valley, Alabama, on our main line. Probably from 700 to 1,000 bales of cotton could be ginned here the first season, and gradually built up to approximately 2,000 bales. A warehouse for cotton in connection would pay and be liberally patronized by the farmers.

HANDLER FACTORY OR FLOW BEAM plant, with great quantities of hickory, oak, maple, ash, dogwood and persimmon, and a sawmill available tributary to a growing town on our A. & B. line, the opportunity for a handler factory, which should combine other wood-working features, seems attractive, and we would be glad to give additional data.

KAOLINS, CLAYS AND SHALES—Our line between Atlanta and Birmingham is developing the greatest variety of hard most enormous deposits of high grade clays and kaolins, infusorial earth, crude silica, and similar materials, and we would be glad to interview or correspond with users of such materials. In addition to its other numerous uses, this material would be a superior to almost anything also for handling purposes.

IN THE BIRMINGHAM DISTRICT—The owners of a perfectly level piece of property have offered to donate it for manufacturing purposes. The acreage so donated to be based on the nature of industry proposed and the number of laborers employed. There isn't a piece of property in the entire district with better railroad facilities.

COTTON MILL—if your town is located on the Seaboard and can raise $100,000 toward the capital stock of a cotton mill, we will be glad to invest $200,000 additional with you. We will not consider a smaller mill, but if the amount is greater than your resources advise how much could be raised.

CONDUIT AND SEWER PIPE PLANT—While you are riding around the city or over the state, or throughout the south, observe the great quantities of sewer pipe, vitrified conduits, drain tile, which is being distributed and used. There are no vitrified conduits manufactured south of the Potomac river east of the Ohio river, nor code the same manufacture sufficient sewer pipe to supply its own requirements. Between Atlanta and Birmingham we have deposits of clays and shales unequalled for the manufacture of these products, and deposits of material of this nature are scarce, however, in the highest quantities of properties without finding just the right quality. We have a ready-made plant, and to the man with sufficient capital to establish such a plant we will be glad to accord full information.

GRATES AND BOXES—The farmers surrounding one town on our line paid over $20,000 last year for crates to ship strawberries, cantaloupes and peaches. Probably over $50,000 was spent for this purpose within a radius of 75 miles of the town. There is plenty of timber available for manufacturing in the vicinity, and we can make a crate and box manufacturer an attractive proposition.

BRICK AND ROOFING TILE PLANT—One location available which could not be excelled. There is forty acres of material in the form of clays and shales, and there are numerous openings have been made at numerous points, and material thoroughly tested and samples are on exhibition at our offices. The property also contains deposits of hematite and manganese.

For additional information concerning brick or other opportunities for call on or address H. B. BIGHAM, Asst. General Industrial Agent, 1109-11 English-American Building, Atlanta, Georgia.

ALL AT CLOSE IN COTTON MARKET Continued Nervous Throughout Day, Creating Low Level.

At the Close, However, a Rally Took Place With Nearly All of the Active Months Showing a Gain. Today Last Trading Day Until Monday.

New York, February 20.—The cotton market continued nervous during today's trading, with near months making a new low level during the early session, but rallying later with the close steady at a net decline of three points with most of the active months showing a gain. Sales were estimated at 150,000 bales. The opening was at a decline of 3/8 points in response to lower cables, and large receipts, while there was continued liquidation of the near months in anticipation of March receipts on next Tuesday. March sold at 9.02 on the call, May at 9.20 and July at 9.35, the lowest prices reached so far this season, but there was an active demand at the decline, thought to be against sales in the English market and for the covering of recent sellers. Prices consequently rallied during the middle of the session and in the afternoon some of the local speculators took a long side for a turn in the expectation of the return of some warring shorts in the absence of any material pressure of long cotton for the time being. This caused the late rally in connection with rumors that a large Broadway house was preparing to take up tenders on March contracts. Southern spot markets as officially reported were unchanged to 1-1/8 lower. Private cables attributed the depression in Liverpool to the continued big receipts, but it was believed that American selling orders were a factor there.

Receipts at the ports today 33,628 bales against 20,164 last week and 25,419 last year. For the week 225,000 bales against 209,212 last week and 333,002 last year.

Today's receipts at New Orleans 3,580 bales against 8,101 last week, and at Houston 12,905 against 6,435 last week.

New Orleans Cotton Market.
New Orleans, February 20.—Cotton, spots closed easy, unchanged, middling 10-1/8. Sales on the spot were 3,950 bales and 375 to arrive.

Futures opened barely steady at a decline of 4 to 8 points, caused principally by poor Liverpool advice. Trading was limited almost entirely to an "evening-up" business. An active spot market, however, caused a better tone and the market closed steady, unchanged to 1 point down.

Dry Goods Market.
New York, February 20.—The dry goods market holds very strong. Activity is notable in the jobbing houses where all lines of goods are being bought freely for spring and summer. In the primary markets long contracts are being made in cotton goods division.

Liverpool Cotton Market.
Liverpool, February 20, 12.30 p. m.—Cotton spots steady, good business done; middling uplands 5.94; sales 10,000; American 8,000; speculation and export 1,500; receipts 13,000; American 5,100.

Estimated Receipts Today.

LETHARGIC TONE IN STOCK MARKET

Condition Yesterday Significant of Decline in Interest.

Plans Amongst Brokers for a Week-End Three-Day Holiday, Caused by Washington's Birthday and Following Holidays in Gotham.

New York, February 20.—The lethargic condition into which the stock market lapsed today was significant of the decline of interest. Professional limits of narrowest description confined the trading. There was nothing discernible in the market to reflect developments in general conditions. Some part of the extreme dullness of the operations was attributed to the approaching of the holiday on Friday. Plans amongst brokers for staying out of town over the week-end added to the disinclination to make new commitments in the meantime. The material of the day's meagre speculation largely dealt with conjunctural developments rather than with actual occurrences. There was quite elaborate argument expended on the probabilities of success or defeat for the American currency measure in Washington. Wall street has set up a standard of large importance for this ground in its bearing on the market outlook, which is not fully shared by bankers and others, who regard it strictly from the side of its probability of influencing the money market. The proceedings, which are to be resumed next Monday by the interstate commerce commission into the affairs of the Harbortown railroads offered another field for the distinguished array of names of the witnesses to be examined at the hearing in itself gives importance to the inquiry in the eyes of the financial world. There is besides a lurking apprehension that disclosures may be made that will add fresh fuel to the flames of public hostility to corporations. Utterances by several prominent railroad officials came in opportunistically to add to the feeling of uneasiness over the position. The consequences of the spread of the market, a threat to the sustained prosperity of the country was alleged from the halting of corporations by two railroad presidents, and a gloomy picture was presented of the necessity of disbanding dividends and even of submission to bankruptcy by minor railroads, which would be the natural consequence. The Pennsylvania continued to be much discussed on the side of unexpected moderation of the requirement for new capital represented in the $10,000,000 portion of the $50,000,000 not intended to provide for redemption of other maturing obligations. While the lightness of this requirement is partly explained by the statement that resources in the hands from the sale of stocks of other railroads, it was inferred that a large retrenchment of future outlays by the company was intended. The general adoption of this course of policy, owing to the difficulties of securing capital, is expected to curtail the consumptive demand for materials, and to reduce the number of actively employed laborers. In the present mood of the market, and its partiality for surmise, the Japanese situation came in for some consideration again, and was given a potentially for possible harm to the future of the market. The selling of the Pacific was again the most influential factor in the actual trading at the stock exchange. Professional operators claimed to detect evidence of selling for insincere account of that stock, and they took the bear side of the account in consequence. The operations for that account were mostly concluded during the first hour of the market. A partial recovery followed, and prices drifted slightly for the greater part of the day, but the closing tone was easy.

In the money market rates for time loans were advanced to bring them more into conformity with the rate of yield in corporation note issues.

Bonds were easy. Total sales, par value, $1,654,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.
